CBI to question KCR's daughter Kavitha on Tue

Interrogation will happen at her Hyderabad home over bribes in Delhi liquor policy scam

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

The CBI on Friday summoned Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao's daughter K Kavitha for questioning in connection with the Delhi liquor scam case. Kavitha has been asked by the CBI to make herself available on December 6.

In a letter dated 2.12.2022 bearing subject "Notice under section 160 CrPC for investigation of case RC 53 (A) 2022 of CBI/ACB/Delhi reg", the CBI said: "The subject cited case has been registered on the basis of written complaint received from Shri Praveen Kumar Rai, Director, MHA, Govt of India vide OM No 14035/06/2022-De;hi-1 dated 22/07/22 u/s 120-B r/w Section 7 of PC Act (as amended in 2018) and Section 477-A of IPC against Shri Manish Sisodia, deputy chief minister, GNCT of Delhi and 14 others regarding the allegation pertaining to excise policy of GNCT of Delhi for the year 2021-22."

The CBI's letter further said, "During the course of investigation of the subject cited case certain facts have emerged with which you may be aquainted with, hence your examination on such facts is required in the interest of investigation."

The letter requested her to inform about her place of residence (Hyderabad or preferably Delhi) as per her convenience for her examination at 11 am on December 6 (Tuesday).

After receiving the CBI letter, Kavitha issued a statement, saying, "I've been issued a CBI notice under Section 160 of CrPC, seeking my clarification. I have informed the authorities that I can meet them at my residence in Hyderabad on December 6 as per their request."

Kavitha was formally named as a suspect in the Delhi liquor scam for the first time by the Enforcement Directorate in a remand application filed by the agency on Thursday for another accused Amit Arora.

The ED alleged in its application that Kavitha was part of a 'South Group' that paid an estimated ₹100 crore bribe to Aam Aadmi Party leaders, some of whom were part of the Delhi government, through a party functionary, Vijay Nair.

South Group

The ED, in its application, alleged that the South Group was controlled by Sarath Reddy, K Kavitha and Magunta Srinivasulu Reddy. It had given kickbacks to the AAP while explaining the modus operandi of the scam

The kin of Meghana, who was killed by a leopard, grieve for her in T Narasipur taluk in Mysuru on Friday | UDAYASHANKAR S

Foresters look to catch, shoot leopard

The forest department, which had issued a shoot-at-sight order for the elusive leopard that had killed a young woman in Sosale Kebbehundi village in T Narasipura taluk this week, has launched a combing operation to capture or shoot the feline on Friday.

Panic spreads with leopards at B'luru's gates

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

UNCERTAINTY and panic is reigning among Bengalureans, especially those residing on the city outskirts. At least eight sightings of leopards on the fringes of Bengaluru have been reported in the last few days. These are from areas like Turahalli state forest, near Sompura (near Turahalli), Devanahalli, Kengeri, Ramanagara, Kanakapura, Chikkaballapur and Doddaballapur, which have been confirmed by the forest department officials.

The residents, in a state of fear, have been sharing messages on each others' whereabouts, asking to be cautious because of increased spottings of leopards in these areas. Villagers near Gati forest, 6-7 km from Nandi forest, have complained to forest department officials about a calf killed on Thursday night. The forest officials admitted that the incident is not a regular affair. Leopard sightings are being reported from Nelamangala too.

The fear of the leopards is such that on Friday morning, a wedding in Kengeri received very poor guest attendance due to threat of being intercepted by the spotted felines. The families of the bride and groom had made arrangements for around 2,000 guests after taking a loan of over Rs 3 lakh. But less than 500 people turned up, fearing leopard movement in the vicinity.

Moreover, traffic on NICE Road has taken a hit. Besides, the daily routine of people living on the city outskirts has been affected. Office-goers have rescheduled their timings and, in some areas, shop owners refuse to open their establishments after sunset and early morning hours.

A senior forest official told The New Indian Express, "There is around 1,500- 2,000 acres of forest and green patch around Bengaluru, which also includes 'gomala' lands (cattle grazing lands) and reserve forest patches. These areas house leopards, but with increased city expansion and rising leopard population, the sightings too have gone up." P5

Court orders arrest of ex-min Chinmayanand

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE MP/MLA court of Shahjahanpur has directed the Uttar Pradesh police to arrest former Union minister Swami Chinmayanand and produce him before the court in connection with an 11-year-old rape case lodged against him by one of his disciples.

Swami Chinmayanand

Special judge Asma Sultana rejected the request made by Chinmayanand's lawyer to allow his client time to appear before court considering his old age and ill health, citing a Supreme Court order that directed him to appear in the Shahjahanpur court by November 30. However, he did not surrender before the court by the deadline. The judge posted the matter on December 9 and directed the police to produce the accused in court.

The case dates back to 2011 when one of the disciples of Chinmayanand lodged a rape case against him. Chinmayanand was the Union minister of state for home in the Vajpayee cabinet.

After the BJP came to power in UP, it started the process for closing the case in 2018. However, the victim opposed the closure proceedings. As a result, the court rejected the application for closure and issued a bailable warrant against the accused.

Govt to KERC: Cut power tariff across state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

MUCH against the usual demand of electricity supply corporations (Escoms) to hike the power tariff, the state government is contemplating to propose to the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) to reduce the power tariff by 70 paise to Rs 2.10 per unit, across the state. Understandably, the proposal is being made ahead of the assembly elections which are few months away and also comes in the backdrop of recently held Global Investors Meet and Bengaluru Tech Summit which laid stress on generation of green energy.

Energy Minister V Sunil Kumar told The New Indian Express that the proposal was being sent to the KERC. He said this was being done as the power tariff in Karnataka is higher when compared to other states.

He added that the proposal also includes revision of various slabs under which consumers are charged. The idea is to reduce the existing six to seven slabs to three to ensure smooth billing process. P4

UNATTENDED MESS

3 yrs up, but no end to KR Mkt's sewage woes

Traders say their grievances fall on deaf ears as BBMP, BWSSB in blame game

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IT'S been three years since the traders along SP Road in Central Business District have been complaining that the park and the main road near City Market has turned into a garbage pool. But their grievances have been falling on deaf ears.

What makes it worse is that instead of addressing the issue, BWSSB and BBMP are blaming each other for the mess.

According to Karnataka Hardware and Allied Merchants Association, sewage is overflowing on SJP Main Road which connects City Market to Town Hall. Customers do not want to come to this area since they cannot park their vehicle and also cannot enter the lanes due to the sewage overflow. "We have been running from pillar to post. The authorities concerned only keep passing the buck," said association secretary Rahul Goyal.

Goyal further said that the drain below the footpath has not been de-silted for many years. The sewage overflows all over the road and many two-wheelers have skidded and fallen, besides buses splashing the sewage on passersby. "BBMP is unable to clean the road due to the sewage. We have been requesting for mechanised sweeping for a long time. There is stench on the road and mosquito menace. Also, street lights are not working. There is a shortage of public toilets too," said Association President, Vikram Agarwal.

Sathya N K, BBMP Assistant Engineer, who is overseeing the development work in Dharmarayaswamy Temple ward said, "The BWSSB should put in bigger sewage pipes. Due to small pipes, dirty water is being diverted to perpendicular drains that connect to K100 Water Way Project." The sewage board contended that it faces problem from the police and the BBMP in terms of getting permission for road cutting and traffic. "However, we have now got permission from both traffic police and BBMP. The work will begin in a day or two. As many as 300 diameter pipes will be laid along the road from City Market Jamia Masjid to Culcutta Traders on SJP Road. The work will take three weeks and the problem of sewage and waste-water flooding will be addressed," said S V Venkatesh, Chief Engineer, South, BWSSB.

Public varsities told to ensure transparency

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN light of Good Governance Month, the Higher Education Department has cracked down on public universities to ensure transparency in their functioning, including starting social media accounts.

In a government order issued to universities, the department has given them 10 days to upload and disclose information regarding their functioning onto their respective websites. They have also been asked to adopt initiatives and practices to promote transparency. According to the order, all universities should be registered with the Academic Bank of Credits by the end of December, and must apply to the UGC to start digital courses by March-end.

The order has also highlighted instructions for universities to start social media accounts to address grievances. "Each university should open accounts on social media to talk to stakeholders and directly get details of their grievances, and interact directly with students," the order stated. As announced earlier, universities must also work towards signing at least five MoUs with industry partners. The five highest enrolment courses will undergo mandatory curriculum revision in consultation with these partners to ensure that students are employable, it stated. Besides, the order gave a list of details to be uploaded online, including UGC guidelines and norms, full details and records of the university's current and previous annual budgets, annual audit reports, syndicate, academic council and finance committee meeting reports and agendas, details of immovable properties and heritage property details.

The universities have also been asked to upload financial details, including grants sanctioned, pension funds, monthly income and expenses, corpus funds, HRMS and non-HRMS payments, purchase orders, development work tenders and fines and penalties imposed.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Share traffic control room nos with hosps, state told

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the state government to share dedicated emergency traffic control room numbers with government and private hospitals and seek their response about ambulance drivers working under their establishments.

The court said that easy movement can be facilitated whenever they provide route details through those dedicated numbers and also check fake calls if the hospitals provide the contact numbers of ambulance drivers in response to the government's request.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi passed the order after hearing a PIL filed by Bharat Punarutthana Trust.

Meanwhile, the government informed the court that only 3,368 ambulances are fitted with GPS out of a total 12,107 government and private, in the state.

Regarding the tender invited for advance ambulance service in the state, the government informed the court that it was opened on November 28, 2022, but no bids were received, and hence, it will be refloated with prior approval of the government within the next 15 days.

PVR's 'Director's Cut' brings luxury cinema to Bengaluru

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE
@ Bengaluru

FILM exhibition industry major PVR Ltd, through its arm, The Luxury Collections, announced the launch of its first 'Director's Cut' in Bengaluru on Friday.

The luxury cinema format at Forum Rex Walk on Brigade Road in the city, joins two others – at Delhi and Gurugram – and provides a bespoke movie-going experience, blending top-notch hospitality with entertainment.

Speaking to TNIE, Renaud Palliere, CEO of The Luxury Collections, PVR Cinemas, said, "Our intention is to create unique, customised experiences. Obviously, the sound systems and technology are standard equipment and feature across our properties. But what's visible to the customers' eyes is bespoke and sophisticated. The idea of Director's Cut is to push the envelope, to create that ambience, vibe and experience for the audience."

Accordingly, the new Director's Cut in Bengaluru seats a total of 243 patrons in its five super-luxurious thematic auditoriums (The Lounge, The Gallery, The Grove, The Library and The Venetian), integrated with advanced technologies, including 4K laser projection system, 7.1 Dolby surround system and Real-D 3D technology. In terms of comfort and hospitality, it offers plush leather recliners, modern décor, and a gourmet menu featuring a localised, as well as cosmopolitan spread, along with a concierge service.

The first Director's Cut opened at Vasant Kunj in Delhi a decade ago, and there are more in the pipeline. "As of now, there are 3-4 more properties on the drawing board or at different stages of design that will open from the next six months onwards. We are looking at Mumbai, Pune and Hyderabad, among other cities. We plan to open these in the next 18-24 months or so," Palliere said, hinting at some expansion in Bengaluru too.

Meanwhile, with this launch, PVR Cinemas has augmented its presence in Bengaluru, with 88 screens at 12 properties. Overall, PVR has strengthened its growth momentum in FY 2022-23, with 884 screens at 178 properties in 77 cities (India and Sri Lanka).

"The expansion of Director's Cut to Bengaluru is an essential part of PVR's assiduous strategy to increase its luxury screen portfolio with a view to redefine spaces and provide experiential world-class cinema to patrons," concluded PVR Ltd Chairman and Managing Director Ajay Bijli.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

03RD December: Today's key sign is Libra - so if you're a Libran, count yourself lucky. Actually Libra is one of my favourite signs. At its best it is warm, sensual, hospitable, creative, loving, stable, loyal and efficient. It's also artistic and imaginative. It can be lazy and obstinate as well, but let's not think about that!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The contradictory shuffle of planets through your chart looks very much like a matter of gaining on the swings and losing on the roundabouts. Still, social influences are good, so do get out and about as much as you can: you may be more popular than you imagine.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Hopefully you will now be able to make a once-and-for-all break with the somewhat dubious habits of the past. I say that now because you are almost at the very end of a series of emotional planetary patterns that can be traced back over recent months.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You've got some pretty strong opinions, but you've got to think very carefully before you try and persuade other people that you're right. You'll be stimulated by long-distance travel, but even if you're forced to stay where you are, you'll still have your dreams.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Business and pleasure come together in unusual ways. It's time to crack open the piggy-bank and squander your ill-gotten gains. If you're socialising tonight, be prepared to pick up the tab. If you have declarations of love to make, go over the top.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The chickens should now be coming home to roost, in the nicest possible way, of course. In fact, some of your past actions will shortly return like so many boomerangs, hopefully in the form of pleasant rewards. You may face a little criticism, but nothing you can't handle.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Several planets are now settling into comfortable regions of your solar chart. In fact, the auspices, as you will shortly find out, are in many ways looking excellent for the next twelve months. Optimism and faith in the future will be your greatest qualities.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Push the boat out and enjoy the fact that the Moon aligns with your house of lovers as Venus and Mercury lift your spirits and send messages to your house of friends. However, when it comes to cash questions, your mood will change, becoming rather more serious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There are pleasant indications of a helpful family period. However, you may also be seized by a desire to get away entirely and pursue a personal ambition free from all restraints. With a bit of careful handling you'll get your way and upset nobody.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
A rough count of your planets shows that they are split between those which favour fun and others which either urge more work or are undecided. That looks to me like a recipe for relaxation. Even serious choices and issues may be safely put to one side while everyone digests the latest information.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Extravagant stars continue. The question is, then, are you going to buck the trend or follow it and surge into the red? The choice is yours: nothing is set in stone. Plus, travel plans may have changed, but it honestly doesn't look as if the end result will be any different.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
With the Moon aligned with your sign, you have no excuse if anything goes wrong. In point of fact, there are many ways to deal with lingering problems, some of which have not yet occurred to you. Use your power wisely and include the restoration of frayed relationships amongst your goals.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Allow yourself the pleasure of spending a little time alone. This is very much a period to concentrate on your own personal ventures, even if that means other people having to wait for your attentions! Patience is a virtue that partners would do well to develop.

ACE shuttler Lakshya Sen has been accused of giving false details of his age and the High Grounds police have registered a case against him, his coach and family members.

An FIR has been registered against Lakshya Sen, his father Dhirendra Kumar Sen, a badminton coach, his mother Nirmala Sen, his brother Chirag Sen, also a badminton player, and coach Vimal Kumar.

Nagaraja MG, a resident of Muddanapalya off Magadi Road, had approached the Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court (ACMM) and had filed a private complaint seeking directives to the police to register an FIR and conduct an investigation into the matter.

The complainant has alleged that Dhirendra Kumar Sen and Nirmala Sen have fudged the dates of birth of Chirag and Lakshya in their birth certificates. In connivance with Vimal Kumar, a badminton coach at the Karnataka Badminton Association and Prakash Padukone Badminton Academy, they made their children play in badminton tournaments and compete with contestants below their age group since 2010.

Using the age as an advantage, the shuttler won many tournaments and received various benefits from the government thereby cheating other talented children and players, the complaint read.

It is alleged that the parents of the international badminton player claimed that he was born in 2001 while his actual year of birth was 1998.

Accused number 3

Based on the complaint filed by Nagaraja, who runs a badminton academy, the High Grounds police registered an FIR on Thursday, naming Lakshya Sen as accused number three.

The police have invoked sections 420 (cheating), 468 (forgery for purpose of cheating), and 471 (using as genuine a forged document) of the Indian Penal Code.

Lakshya Sen has won many tournaments and medals, including a gold in the recent Commonwealth Games 2022 which was held in Birmingham, United Kingdom.

He was recently awarded the Arjuna award.

NCB arrests 27 for drug trade, 13 from city

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), Bengaluru Zonal Unit (BZU) in the past two months has booked nine cases in which hydro ganja worth around Rs 15 lakh, along with drugs like LSD, cocaine, hashish and Psilocybin mushrooms were seized.

The NCB arrested 27 persons, including women. "The NCB unit undertook controlled delivery operations and not only managed to arrest the receiver, but also the persons involved in financing, transporting and distribution of the drugs," said BZU director P Aravindhan.

He added that a "common modus operandi was used in all these cases wherein the contraband drugs were booked through the Darknet, and in some closed Telegram and WhatsApp groups. The payments were made through crypto currency and other online payment channels. The accused belong to the 20-25 age group and are mostly students and art/software professionals," the officer added. They are well educated and hail from Kolkata, Chennai, Delhi and are settled in Bengaluru.

"In one case, the drug supplier was operating from Siliguri, West Bengal, and was distributing the contraband through a local courier company to various destinations across the country. His customers ordered drugs via WhatsApp and payments were made through UPI," added Aravindhan. Among the arrested accused, 13 are from Bengaluru, one each from Iran, Delhi, Mumbai, Haryana, Mizoram, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh; two each from Kolkata and Tamil Nadu and three from Hyderabad.

'Appoint specially-abled in govt'

PEOPLE with Disabilities (PwDs) should be inducted into the government set-up in different capacities. It is only then that the problems being faced by the disabled can be understood and addressed, said Dr Rajalakshmi S J, Miss Wheelchair World Pageant.

She was speaking at an event held to mark International Day of Persons with Disabilities, organised by the Association of People with Disability (APD), an NGO for PwDs, on Friday. "PwDs should be in the ministry. If a minister or a decision maker is disabled, they will be in a better position to take decisions for the welfare of PwDs", she said.

Senthil Kumar, CEO of APD, said, "Organising such interactive sessions give us an opportunity to not only bring awareness in public spaces but also sensitise the public on disability issues and build an ecosystem of equality."

Ramya, a Kannada teacher at the NGO, said the government should be more involved to ensure that people with disabilities are included in matters of decision-making like providing infrastructure.

HC upholds Centre's policy on capping price of 42 anti-cancer drugs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court upheld the Union Government's policy of capping the trade margin of 42 anti-cancer drugs at 30 per cent.

"If such policy is not promulgated, the poor or middle class which forms a majority of the population could succumb to the disease due to high prices that manufacturers project, making them unaffordable. Therefore, the challenge to the government order by a retailer whose motive is profit, cannot be countenanced," said Justice M Nagaprasanna, dismissing a petition filed by Healthcare Global Enterprises Limited. Additional Solicitor-General of India contended that for the public good, essential drugs can be placed under the price control order as market forces are charging 900 per cent more than the manufacturing cost, and the cap is on all anti-cancer drugs. It was issued in public interest and was to be in operation for one year, and later to be increased by 10 per cent. Therefore, no manufacturer can claim to impose a 900 per cent margin on a cancer drug which is needed by citizen suffering from the disease," he argued.

While fixing the cap, the Department of Pharmaceuticals, under the Union Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers, directed manufacturers to fix their retail price. In all, 42 drugs are listed. The petitioner moved court after the notification on February 27, 2019, contending that the petitioner being a stockist, the cap laid on the manufacturer would result in his business getting affected, inter alia.

The court said the petitioner now seeks to contest it as the order will pull down his profit as he is only a retailer. The cap is on the manufacturer but the effect is on the retailer.

Family of three attacked over parking

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A resident and his driver attacked a family of three, including a 53-year-old woman, during an argument over parking on the 39th Cross in Jayanagar 5th block. The victims are residents of Basavanagudi, who had come to Jayanagar to attend a house warming ceremony of their relative.

S Aman, 29, a resident of Govinda Road in Basavanagudi, who is an auditor, allegedly parked his SUV near a house, which a local resident objected to, resulting in a fight. Aman, his mother Anitha and his cousin Thushar were allegedly attacked by the resident between 9am and 9.30am on Wednesday. The victims have filed a complaint with the Jayanagar police. "Aman, along with his mother and wife, had come for the ceremony. Thushar, Aman's cousin, was already present. When the mother and son duo were walking to the house after parking their SUV, one of the suspects blocked them asking them to remove the car. When the argument began, another suspect, who is reportedly a techie, rushed to the spot and started thrashing Aman. When Anitha and Tushar tried to rescue Aman, they were also beaten up. The complainant has accused the duo of threatening them also," said an officer.

When contacted, Aman refused to comment. "It was a trivial issue. Notice has been served to the suspect. No arrests have been made," the officer added.

Anwar Manippady, joint spokesperson of BJP, has accused CM Basavaraj Bommai of trying to save politicians involved in Wakf property scam. Manipady, referring to the CM's statement that he would support the Wakf Board in the fight for ₹2,200 crore property claimed to have been looted, asked whether he has no knowledge of the HC order, Lokayukta report and SC's order directing the State to take proper action regarding the Anwar Manippady Wakf Scam report

Lokayukta talks tough, tells cops to work with zeal

Says people have faith in institution; Wants conviction rate of 85-90% in criminal cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TALKING tough with police officials working in the anti-corruption agency, Lokayukta Justice BS Patil said if there is rampant corruption and people are suffering because of it, it reflects the inefficiency of the Lokayukta police.

Speaking after inaugurating a two-day workshop on conducting an effective investigation into cases registered under the Prevention of Corruption Act and Karnataka Lokayukta Act, Justice BS Patil said people's expectations of the Lokayukta is very high, after the power to investigate cases under the PC Act was restored. It is the duty of all staff of the anti-corruption watchdog to work to meet these expectations.

"Investigations should be done with zeal. I am not bothered about how you (police officers) worked in the past. But here, I need you to be completely motivated and focused. There is no limitation or pressure from elected representatives. But if anyone is found to be working against the goals of this institution, they will not continue even for a minute. There is an internal mechanism in place where I get reports on the performance of the staff," Justice BS Patil added.

He said the agency will become a laughing stock if there is any wrongdoing by its staff. "We keep doing several operations. If any case of passing of information is found, all other investigation will be kept aside and a probe taken up to find out who leaked the information first," the Lokayukta warned.

Meanwhile, he said a 25-point directive has been issued to police on investigation and prosecution, and some officers are doing a commendable work while others were not up to the mark in districts. "There is rampant corruption and people are crying because of that in your district, your action and inefficiency are the reasons for that," Justice Patil said, asking officers to keep visiting government offices, hospitals and agricultural centres to know what's happening there. Further, he added the conviction rate should be 85-90 per cent in corruption cases.

The single judge on November 8, 2022, had set aside the order passed by the sessions court, directing Twitter to remove the links and temporarily block the accounts of INC India and Bharat Jodo Yatra, after the Congress admitted that it had taken 45 seconds of the audio inadvertently while giving an undertaking that they will remove the offending material from all social media accounts.

MRT Music has alleged that the accused have not removed the infringing content from social media handles on Twitter and Facebook and the same is willfully disobeying the conditions imposed by the HC.

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday brushed aside allegations that the names of people from minority communities are being deleted from the electoral roll in the state. "It is all false," Bommai told reporters here.

He said the Election Commission of India and election authorities in the state have taken note of it. The deletion and addition of names is done by the ECI only, he said.

"The State Government has already urged the ECI to consider allegations of deletion and addition of names seriously and initiate an inquiry. Moreover, some names in the voters' list are in one or more constituencies and the ECI will initiate action on such names," he said.

After 'Muslim CM' remark, HDK now says why not 'Dalit CM'

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Tumakuru

UNDER attack from Dalit organisations over his remark that party leader C M Ibrahim can be made the chief minister if the party comes to power, senior JD(S) leader and former CM H D Kumaraswamy said that he would not hesitate to make a Dalit the chief minister.

He made the statement at the party's 'Pancharatna' campaign in Tumakuru, which is also the home turf of veteran Congress leader Dr G Parameshwara, who is also a Dalit.

Kumaraswamy has been facing the ire of a section of Dalits who staged a protest against him at some places over his reported statement, "Why cannot C M Ibrahim become the chief minister? Is he untouchable".

"I have not committed any crime. Even Congress leader Siddaramaiah had made such a statement but why are people targeting only me over the Dalit issue", he questioned, adding that he had great concern for the community.

"Since the BJP came to power at the Centre, Muslims are being treated differently and a hate campaign has been launched against them. Remarks like 'go to Pakistan' have often been reported. It was in this context that I made the statement (about Ibrahim)", he clarified at Dibburu area.

When asked whether the JD(S) could make a Dalit the CM, he replied, "Why not. I have been trying to build the party keeping in view its survival for the next 25 years. I have kept all options open, including making a Dalit the CM, if the party comes to power. We will follow the advice of my father H D Deve Gowda who is known for ensuring social justice".

It may be noted here that Deve Gowda had favoured AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge, a Dalit stalwart, for the CM's post when the JD(S) had formed the government in alliance with the Congress party in the state.

Kumaraswamy also recalled that it was Deve Gowda who made an educated Dalit the president of the erstwhile Zilla Parishad (ZP) of Hassan district in the 80s when there was no reservation for that post. "At that time, H D Revanna had won the ZP seat by a record margin of 10,000 votes. But, Deve Gowda picked a MA post-graduate Dalit for the post," he said.

'Reduce user fee revisions'

AN official from the energy department said the proposal is not a part of the user fee and fuel cost adjustment charges, but to reduce the tariff for the next financial year, billing cycle of which starts from April. "Instead of reduction in charges, we would like to term it as rationalisation of charges. Since the usage of green energy has increased, we are keen on reducing tariff," the official said. The department is also proposing to reduce the user fee revisions. It has also recommended concession to rural electricity users. A discount of 25 paise on the user fee has been contemplated for customers under gram panchayats. For low tension consumers of up to 50 units, who are now charged Rs 4.15 and Rs 4.05 per unit, it has proposed a reduction in the fee to Rs 3.6 per unit. For consumption of 50 to 200 units, it has been decided to reduce two slabs to one, with an average of Rs 5.4. There is discussion on charging average user per unit. It has recommended reduction of current rates of Rs 8.20 and Rs 7.70 to Rs 7 for users of 200 units and beyond.

HEALTH MATTERS

Netas get fit for election season, complete trips to hospital

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH Assembly polls in Karnataka just a few months away, netas are boning up for the grind ahead. Deeming health to be of prime importance, they are scheduling checkups and minor surgeries, so they are fit and fine when the poll bugle is sounded.

In the past few weeks, many MLAs, MPs and even ministers have been admitted to hospitals for treatment. A few who had been putting off health issues, are finally undergoing treatment, and want no niggling issues for the next few months.

Sources in the office of a minister, who underwent surgery recently, said he was putting off further treatment. At present, he is resting and virtually working from home.

With a few months left for polls, December appears to be a crucial month for treatment. "If surgery or treatment is delayed further, there may not be sufficient time to take rest. Central leaders are now focusing on Gujarat polls, but soon, focus will shift to Karnataka," said sources in a minister's office.

"Most ministers and party leaders will have to take part in rallies and door-to-door campaigns. This is why many of them are taking treatment now," said a BJP leader.

While Agriculture Minister BC Patil was in hospital for knee surgery, Social Welfare Minister Kota Shrinivas Pujar of Udupi, MP and BJP state president Nalinkumar Kateel and Opposition leader Siddaramaiah have had their own ailments treated. Fisheries Minister S Angara was admitted after he tested positive for dengue earlier this week.

BJP sources point out that Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai is also due to get treated for his knee pain. He has not taken much rest, and the stresses and strains of the job are likely to weigh heavy during the campaign months. "In November, CM Bommai travelled to most of the districts, and even visited Delhi. He is taking ayurvedic treatment, and is unlikely to get admitted to hospital, at least till elections are over in Karnataka," sources said.

Wife forcing me to convert, complains man

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A city court directed the police to investigate a private complaint of a 28-year-old man who has accused his wife of forcing him and his parents to convert to Christianity. Police registered an FIR following the court's direction, and are investigating.

Deepak, a welder residing at Ashokapuram in Mahalakshmi Layout, filed a complaint against his 26-year-old wife Sunitha Gracy, along with five others. Deepak and Gracy were in a courtship before they got married on January 18, 2019, at a temple in Electronics City. The duo lives in a rented house. The complainant reportedly travels to different states on work and would tell his wife before going. But Gracy is alleged to have been filing a missing complaint about her husband.

She is accused of not paying rent though her husband gave her the money. She is also accused of taking money as loan, by dropping her husband's name. When the demand to repay the loan mounted, she would send them to her husband's workplace, asking them to take money from him.

In a private complaint in court, Deepak stated that his wife was forcing him, his parents and brother to convert to Christianity. She has threatened to frame false charges on them if they did not convert. Her parents and other family members are alleged to have supported her. Deepak also accused his wife of trespassing his parents' house and threatening them.

"The couple is not in a cordial relationship. Gracy has filed three missing complaints whenever her husband went out on work. Deepak is also frustrated as she had taken money from many people using his name. He filed a private complaint in a city court and the FIR was registered based on the court's direction. If Deepak's allegation about forcible conversion come to light, it would be mentioned in the chargesheet," said an officer who is part of investigations.

VIZHINJAM PROTEST

Kerala softens stand on central force use

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

IN a drastic change of position, the state government on Friday informed the Kerala High Court that central forces have the authority to maintain security in the Vizhinjam port area, even if the state hadn't requested it.

The government's move is being seen as it passing the buck – of containing the Latin Church-backed protests, which turned violent last week – to the central forces. Considering the state's submission, Justice Anu Sivaraman directed Deputy Solicitor General S Manu to get instructions from the Centre and submit its response by Wednesday, the next posting date.

Senior advocate S Sreekumar and advocate Roshan D Alexander, who represented Adani Vizhinjam Port Private Ltd and HOWE Engineering Projects had moved the court demanding the deployment of central forces. Highlighting the recent violence that took place at Vizhinjam, the counsel said the incident proved the state police were helpless in maintaining law and order.

When the court asked what action had been taken against the instigators, the government replied cases had been registered and police were taking stringent action.

The petitioners' counsel said instigators were still camping in the shed installed at the site. They termed the police action an eyewash, alleging they had arrested only five persons out of thousands of protesters.

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

TWO children died due to dog bites between November 22 and 25 in Badanahatti village of Kurugodu taluk in Ballari district. The deceased Surakshita M (3) and Shantakumar T (7), were reportedly playing outside their houses when they were mauled by dogs.

The attacks have sparked panic among parents, who are afraid of allowing their kids to play outside.

In one of the cases, the dog which attacked the kid had rabies. In Badanahatti village, where almost every household has a pet dog, are sometimes abandoned by their owners. In both the cases, such dogs are suspected to have attacked the kids.

The district administration has deployed a team of health officials to prevent recurrence of such incidents.

Dr Janardhana HL, district health officer, Ballari, said, "I visited the village with my team two days ago. A rabies-infected dog had attacked the three-year-old girl, when she was palying outside. Admitted to a hospital, with severe injuries to her head and face, she did not respond to treatment. The seven-year-old boy was not taken to a hospital immediately by his parents, who tried some home remedies."

Ramappa Harijan, a resident of Badanahatti village, said that the residents now carry sticks while venturing out of their homes. "The dog, which attacked the girl, was later killed by a group of villagers. The whole village is in mourning after the deaths of the two children," he said.

People must be cautious, says top forest officer

"IT must be noted the sightings are at different locations and on different days. They have also increased with the increased presence of CCTV cameras which people put up in their properties. On an average, visuals of at least one or two leopards are being captured by the department across the state daily," the forest official said.

In the case of Turahalli, the official said the leopard killed a deer inside the forest patch, which is normal. Senior forest officials on Friday visited the Turahalli forest patch and surrounding areas to assess the situation and instill confidence among people. However, they rubbished a viral video of a leopard attacking two women, which was mistaken to be in Bengaluru, and clarified that it was in Uttarakhand. Chief Conservator of Forests, Bengaluru, SS Lingaraj, said the leopard population is on the rise across the state.

"Whenever there is news, the teams comb the area and keep cages. We have been capturing leopards and relocating them to safer habitats. We request people not to panic, but stay cautious. We request them not to fall prey to rumours, but to contact the department for accurate news and report to us directly of any sightings or signs instead of taking to social media."

Boy dies after delay in treatment at PHC, parents bring body to JDS rally

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Tumakuru

A FOUR-year-old boy, who drowned in a sump at his house in Kodigenahalli of Madhugiri assembly constituency, died due to alleged delay in treatment at the Public Health Centre (PHC). Former CM and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy and his son Nikhil Kumaraswamy, who were at Kodigenahalli village during the party's Pancharatna campaign on Friday, cut short their programme.

"An ambulance was available but neither doctors nor drivers were present to attend during an emergency," HDK alleged, and attacked Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar for the poor state of affairs at the place. He also spoke to the principal secretary Anil Kumar TK and CM's principal secretary Manjunath Prasad, and asked them to take necessary steps.

A JDS member holds the body of the boy (4), during the party's Pancharatna campaign as former CM HD Kumaraswamy looks on, in Madhugiri taluk on Friday

However, District Health Officer Dr DN Manjunath clarified that the PHC has two doctors and three staff nurses working in shifts round the clock. Dr Purushottam, who was part of HDK's convoy, attended the boy, who was brought dead, he said. The body was brought to the campaign around 5pm by his parents, who complained that there were neither doctors at the PHC nor drivers.

CBI, ED PULLING IN DIFFERENT DIRECTIONS IN DELHI LIQUOR PROBE

The two premier investigative agencies of the Union government—the Central Bureau of Investigation and the Enforcement Directorate—appear to be going in different directions in their probe into the alleged liquor scam in Delhi. The ED's investigations and submissions in court have focused on policymakers, who, it said, deliberately drafted a policy that would ensure cartelisation to give undue benefits to a favoured few who would return part of the windfall profits to the conspiring government servants. The ED has not minced words in laying bare the modus operandi of those behind the framing of the Delhi Excise Policy 2021–22. After investigation, it was found that a new regime of duty collection was brought in through the new excise policy. Under this new regime, the private players were assured very high retail and wholesale commissions. Besides this, a number of other changes were brought in that worked to the advantage of the private players and adversely affected the state government's revenue collection. The agency's probe is underway.

On the other hand, the CBI named top government officials in its FIR, including Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia, the then Excise Commissioner Arava Gopi Krishna, and others. At the stage of filing the chargesheet, however, the CBI dropped these top guns and named only some lowly officials who had nothing to do with the framing of the policy. The officials chargesheeted by the CBI are the ones who had merely implemented the policy after it was notified. Their chances of being found guilty of committing any crime or illegality are negligible. The CBI chargesheet, therefore, gives a clean chit to all those behind the framing of a policy allegedly drawn up with a malafide intention of generating illegal profits.

The official memo sent to the CBI by the Union home ministry, as well as the Delhi lieutenant governor's semi-official letter to the home ministry, had accused top state government functionaries of committing irregularities in the framing and implementation of the said excise policy. The ED, which is in charge of tracking proceeds of the crime and money laundering, accuses top Delhi government functionaries of bringing in a policy with the aim of deriving illegal benefits from it. In contrast, the CBI finds no one guilty of any such crime.

INVEST MORE, CURB COSTS ECONOMY RALLY MANTRA

India's Q2 GDP growth eased to 6.3% on a normalising base, but what's more unsettling is that we seem to be on a rough trot. Amid fears of a looming global polycrisis—a situation where multiple crises due to economic and non-economic shocks occur—growth cuts are coming at us without a heartbeat's pause. Add to this the declining households' purchasing power both due to rising interest rates and depletion of accumulated pandemic savings and an incomplete labour market recovery, India's growth estimates too are being lowered not just for the next two quarters of this fiscal, but also the next fiscal. If FY23 estimates are pared down to 6.8% or thereabouts from 7–7.2% projected earlier, FY24 projections are down to 6–6.3%. Put another way, the Indian economy is spinning in its orbit, but not at the pace it needs or desires to.

Worsening global growth will affect India's exports, which in turn could weigh heavily on domestic industrial activity, which, as it is, was the primary drag on real GDP growth in Q2. Even if domestic demand stays resilient until the catch-up in contact-based services fades, it sure would be tested by weakening industrial output. Notably, the manufacturing sector already contracted by 4.3% in Q2 against a 4.8% growth in Q1. Likewise, construction too slowed down to 6.6% from 16.8%, while fixed investments grew by 10.4% in Q2 as against 20% in Q1, suggesting that private investment was yet to pick up materially. Helpfully, the government's capex growth was robust at 42% in Q2 (though lower than 57% in Q1), but government expenditure contracted by 4.4%. Rising subsidies, including food and fertilisers, have upset the budget math, forcing aggressive expenditure rationalisation within the first half of the fiscal.

Additional government spending will leave us with an unmistakable breach in fiscal deficit, even though some of it will be absorbed by higher tax collections and nominal GDP growth. Economists have already begun reminding the government about the need for fiscal correction and the glide path target of 4.5% by FY26. Domestic economic recovery is yet to be broad-based. Amid shrinking corporate profitability and demand-curbing interest rates that weigh on output, government and private investments are essential for a stronger and complete recovery. A slowing economy will need higher investments, and government spending must do the hard yards until at least private investment recovers.

QUICK TAKE

REMODEL URBAN LOCAL BODIES

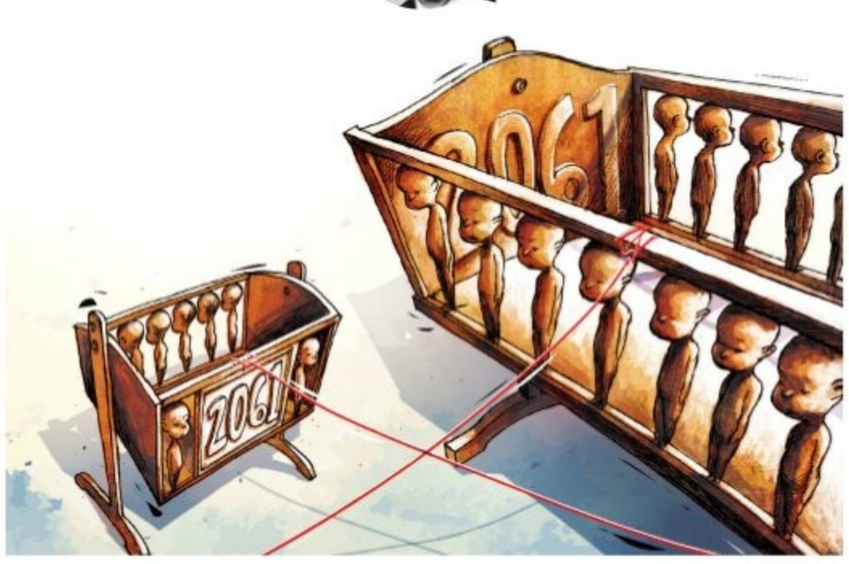
Fifteen years from now, 600 million Indians or 40% of the population, will live in urban areas. A World Bank report also says the government will need to invest ₹70 lakh crore for additional infrastructure to sustain improved living standards. That requires decentralising urban governance and empowering urban local bodies to plan and manage future infra projects independently. Today's situation is governments appropriate many civic functions in some cities, even sewage, land use and city transport. Fiscal decentralisation is a must. Mayors cannot remain ceremonial but have powers to handle civic tax affairs. Municipal revris must end.

The Modi government will have to take cognisance of the demographic changes and evolve a population control policy that has universal application but is non-coercive

CHALLENGES TO CONCEIVE UNIFORM POPULATION POLICY

A SURYA PRAKASH

Former Chairman of Prasar Bharati and scholar of democracy studies



SOUMYADIP SINHA

The United Nations recently announced that the world population has crossed the 8 billion mark and that next year, India will overtake China and become the most populous nation in the world. Further, India's population will continue to rise until 2064.

The UN identified India as the biggest contributor to the world's population growth in the last 12 years, and the increase was highest in low-income and lower-middle-income countries. This trend may continue over the next decade as well.

This has major implications for India, not only because the nation will have more mouths to feed, but because of the social and political implications of uneven population growth among religious communities.

Some weeks before the UN announcement, the general secretary of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), Dattatreya Hosabale, had lent his voice to an issue that has been agitating the Hindu mind for a long time—the distinct change in religious demography in India and the dwindling Hindu population over the last few decades. He felt that there was a need for a population policy and "population control". In his view, the government must evolve a uniform population policy which is applied evenly across religious communities and geographies, and strictly enforce anti-conversion laws.

An analysis of the census data over the last 50 years establishes that demographic change has gone against the Hindus. For example, the percentage of Hindus in India in 1961 was 83.4%. It dropped to 79.8% in 2011 and is certain to drop further when the religion census data of 2021 is available. On the other hand, the percentage of Muslims was 10.7% in 1961. It increased to 14.2% in 2011.

The changes in these communities' populations in the last 50 years can be attributed to the huge variance in their decadal growth. While the national average for decadal growth was 17.7% in the last census, and the Hindus, Christians, Sikhs, Buddhists and Jains grew at a rate lesser than that average, the Muslims multiplied by 24.6%. For example, while the Hindus multiplied by 16.8% between 2001–11, other religious communities grew at the following rates—Christians (15.5%), Sikhs (8.4%), Buddhists (6.1%) and Jains (5.4%).

Equally significant is the fact that the Muslim population grew in 27 states in the country between 2001–11. It rose in percentage terms from 30.9 to 34.2 in Assam, 24.7 to 26.6 in Kerala, 11.9 to 13.9 in Uttarakhand, and 25.2 to 27 in West Bengal.

Addressing the Working Committee of the RSS, Hosabale said that apart from conversions, the human traffic across the border was altering the demographics in several districts of North Bihar, apart from other states.

Hosabale reminded the Sangh's Working Committee that past experience showed that population imbalance had grave repercussions on a nation's geography as well. His reference to conversions finds resonance in the dramatic increase in the Christian population of Arunachal Pradesh (18.7 to 30.3), Manipur (34 to 41.3) and Meghalaya (70.3 to 74.6). The RSS believes that religious conversions in several of these states have brought about unprecedented demographic changes. For example, Christians constituted 52.98% of the population in Nagaland in 1951. But in just 60 years, their population jumped to over 90%. Meanwhile, the Hindu population in the state crashed from 14.36% to 7.7% between 1981 and 2001.

The anxiety expressed by leaders of the RSS stems from the detailed demographic research done by A P Joshi, M D Srinivas and Jitendra Bajaj, authors of Religious Demography of India and scholars in the Centre for Policy Studies in Chennai. After assessing the 2001 census data, they came up with a rather gloomy prediction that the adherents of the Indic religions would become a minority in India in 2061.

This study has indeed come as a wake-up call for Hindu groups in the country and has been the reason for the demand for a uniform population policy. Needless to say, major demographic changes have significant political, geographic and social consequences.

And this is the central worry of the RSS, which Hosabale has articulated. Further, the concerns of the RSS flow from the fact that the Hindus have become a minority in eight states and union territories. They are Mizoram, Nagaland, Meghalaya, Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur, Punjab, Jammu & Kashmir and Lakshadweep. In other words, the Hindus are in the minority in a quarter of the states in the country. What are its political and social implications, and what impact will this have on national and internal security and social harmony? These questions appear to be uppermost in RSS' thinking and are worthy of some introspection and debate.

The Modi government will have to take cognisance of these demographic changes and evolve a population control policy that has universal application but is non-coercive. In fact, the family planning programme initiated by the Congress Party between 1975–77 turned out to be so intimidating and unpopular that future governments refused to even talk about it lest they lose public support.

In order to ruthlessly pursue its objective, the Indira Gandhi government set sterilisation targets for government servants, including policemen and school teachers. Those who failed to meet the targets were denied salaries or arrested under the draconian national security laws in vogue then. The worst example of that government's coercion was the police action in Meo Muslim-dominated Uttawar village in Haryana, where all males aged 8 to 80 were bundled into police vans, taken to a primary health centre and forcibly vasectomised. This resulted in such revulsion towards the programme that it wrecked the small family campaign and contributed in no small measure to India's population growth.

The Modi government will therefore need to steer clear of these pitfalls and evolve a policy which will be more persuasive and less menacing in order to bring the numbers down and, at the same time, ensure that it applies to all religious denominations. How will the Union government respond to these demographic realities and the concerns of the RSS? Will the Modi government pick up the gauntlet?

FOOTBALL, POLO AND THE BAMBOO STORY

PRATIK KANJILAL

Editor of The India Cable

SPEAKEASY

The 2022 World Cup in Qatar is genuine rocket science: the footballs used are loaded with an ultra-wideband sensor and an inertial measurement sensor. Every effect of impacts on the ball, whether it is kicked or it caroms off a goalpost, is recorded at 500 frames per second in 3D space. That's much more accurate than GPS and, combined with optical technologies already used by FIFA, will make the refereeing of close calls much less controversial.

But where do these digitally proprioceptive footballs come from? The World Cup has focused media attention on Sialkot in Pakistan, where the official ball of the event, the Adidas Al Rihla, is made by hand. Some 60,000 people in the city—that's more than one in 10—are in soccer ball manufacturing, and they supply a third of the world's demand. The crucial stitching is done by seriously underpaid women. Bloomberg reports that they make 75 US cents per ball, which takes about three hours to stitch. It's way below the cost of living, even in Sialkot.

It's a far cry from the world of Real Madrid and Man U, with its stratospheric signing and transfer fees. Never mind Cristiano Ronaldo, the first billionaire in sport, or Lionel Messi, whose moving cost is £162 million. Even a defender like Harry Maguire would cost a club £80 million. Which is why soccer attracts Russian oligarchs and oil sheikhs, apart from your regular English punter stepping into the neighbourhood Ladbrokes. It's a game made of money and designed to make more money, and it's a scandal that the footballs used in top fixtures are made for bizarrely low remuneration.

It recalls a similar sporting scandal which is now forgotten: until the 1990s, almost all of the world's polo balls were supplied by the small village of Deulpur in Howrah district, West Bengal, again for marginal wages.

Today, Deulpur is firmly on India's sporting map for a different reason: its most celebrated son is Achinta Sheuli, the weightlifter who won gold at the Commonwealth Games in Birmingham this year. In the polo age, though, Deulpur was just a name on shipping manifests, because it supplied a few lakh polo balls every year, bound for clubs all over the world.

But no one ever went to Deulpur, and you won't find its name in the Wikipedia page for polo. The nearest suburban train station was over an hour away. Deulpur had no attractions except… imagine a sprawling landscape of polo balls. They were everywhere, like the remains of some geological event in the remote past.

Though polo is of Central Asian origin—a much-photographed game using a sheep carcass instead of a ball is still played—the modern game derives from the Manipuri game of 'pulu'. The British adapted it to their tastes, using a wooden ball or a cricket ball wrapped in layers of leather, and polo became the classic colonial—and by emulation, princely—sport in the mid-19th century.

> It's a game made of money and designed to make more money, and it's a scandal that the footballs used in top fixtures are made for bizarrely low remuneration

According to sporting lore, alert Deulpur native Bipin Chandra Baug noticed that these balls didn't last under the impact of the mallet. A more durable material was required, and in east India, there is no natural material quite as tough as the bamboo. Its root, particularly, is a solid mass. A power saw would bounce off it.

It is said that the Baug family started a small line in polo balls, each made from the root of a bamboo cut to size. The choice of material must have been obvious, because the region in which Deulpur lies was richly endowed with bamboo thickets. Their roots were chiselled into shape and rounded off with sandpaper. The process, which was still followed in the late 20th century, takes hours of hard physical work. It pays peanuts.

His first bamboo polo ball in hand, Bipin Chandra Baug went on a marketing trip to Calcutta. English-speaking friends in the big city apparently interceded with the Calcutta Polo Club—India's oldest surviving, established in 1862. Globalisation, the by-product of imperialism, did its thing, and orders from all over the world started coming to Deulpur.

Synthetic materials reached the Indian market in the 1960s, a century after the Calcutta Polo Club encountered Deulpur's bamboo polo ball. The first entry was Bakelite, plastics followed, and by the Seventies, Deulpur's business was threatened by the arrival of the 'fibre' polo ball. It was cheap and virtually indestructible. It even felt like Teflon. By the Nineties, it was game over.

Back in the 19th century, bamboo was being put to many uses. Edison experimented with a bamboo filament for his incandescent bulb, one of the great innovations which lighted the way to the modern age, before tungsten came into vogue. Even today, bamboo is an inspiration for structural engineering. It bends in a storm but never breaks, and serves as a model for architecture which must withstand shear stresses, like high-rises in earthquakes. The 1999 super cyclone in Odisha, the most powerful tropical storm ever recorded, turned the coast into a moonscape, but bamboos remained standing, sometimes with corpses draped over them.

Bamboo also revolutionised polo but eventually, synthetics won that ball game. Now, in Qatar, inertial technology and AI embedded in footballs made in Sialkot threaten to make the referee redundant (though, to be fair, the maker insists that humans will have the last word). Since top quality footballs have hand-sewed seams, the women who make them are protected from technological threat.

But society's contempt for manual work means that like generations of polo ball artists in Deulpur, they will probably remain on a survival wage.

BJP assigns key party roles to defectors from Congress

Amarinder, Jakhar placed in nat'l executive; Shergill new spokesman

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

IN a well-thought out organisational move, the Bharatiya Janata Party on Friday assigned new roles to Congress defectors Jaiveer Shergill, Sunil Jakhar and former Punjab chief minister Capt (retd) Amrinder Singh and others in the party's organisation.

The BJP has appointed Jaiveer Shergill as national spokesperson and former Amrinder Singh and Jakhar have been appointed as members of party's national executive.

Shergill had defected to BJP after making blistering political attack on the dominance of Gandhi family in the Congress Party. The 39-year-old leader is a practicing Supreme Court and is considered a sound communicator with sharp political and satirical wits while putting across his views on behalf of the party. He had lambasted the Gandhi family, saying the "vision of the party's decision-makers is no longer in sync" with the aspirations of the youth and the political sycophancy has been "eating the Congress like 'termites'.

Amrinder Singh had floted his own party, Punjab Lok Congress, after parting ways with the Congress. he merged his prty into BJP in September. Singh had resigned from the Congress in November last year and floated a new party ahead of this year's Punjab elections.

After breaking 50-year old political association with the Congress party since the days of his father Balram Jakhar, Sunil Jakhar questioned the political hegemony of Gandhi family in the party and joined the BJP.

Besides, Singh and Jakhar, the BJP has also appointed former Uttar Pradesh BJP chief Swatantra Dev Singh as a member of its national executive. Swatantra Dev Singh is considered as one of the sharpest strategists of the party. "His skills of effective and balance election management and political acumen exhibited during the selections of candidates for the UP assembly elections had helped the party in retaining power in the politically significant state," said one of the senior party functionaries on Friday.

The BJP has also appointed Madan Kaushik, Vishnu Deo Sai, S Rana Gurmit Singh Sodhi, Manoranjan Kalia and Amanjot Kaur Ramoowalia as special invitee-members of party's national executive working committee.

MOVE TO STRENGTHEN PARTY IN PUNJAB, C'GARH

Sources in the BJP hinted that the party has taken proper care to ensure proper participation from both Punjab and Chhattisgarh with an aim to consolidate the party structures in state politics ahead of upcoming assembly elections.

Kharge likely to remain Leader of Oppn

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS the Winter Session of the Parliament is scheduled to begin on December 7, sources said that Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge may continue as Leader of the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha.

If the party decides to continue with Kharge as LoP, it will be flouting the principle of 'one person one post commitment, staunchly endorsed by Rahul Gandhi too. In its Udaipur 'Chintan Shivir', the party had pitched one post to one person as a major reform measure, which needs to be implemented at all levels of the party. Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot withdrew from the AICC chief race after Rahul Gandhi stuck to the one post, one leader concept.

During a public meeting in September, Rahul Gandhi stressed that Congress is committed to following the Udaipur declaration of the 'one post, one man' policy. This was perceived as a stern message to Gehlot, who wanted to keep both the CM and Congress President posts. Gehlot took a U-turn after Rahul Gandhi's message.

According to sources, the party may decide on a Rajya Sabha leader in the Parliamentary Party's 'strategy group' meeting on Saturday. The meeting is being called by Sonia Gandhi. The group has 10 members including Kharge, Jairam Ramesh, K C Venugopal, P Chidambaram, and Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury among others.

Kharge resigned as the Leader of the Opposition on September 29, after filing the nomination for the party chief post. This aligned with the party's 'one leader, one post' policy adopted in the Udaipur Chintan Shivir declaration. Sticking to the party line, Kharge tendered his resignation to former party President Sonia Gandhi.

Kharge took charge as Leader of the Opposition in the Upper House in February 2021 after the retirement of Ghulam Nabi Azad.

After Kharge's resignation, the names of senior Congress leaders P Chidambaram, Mukul Wasnik, Digvijay Singh, and Pramod Tiwari have been doing the rounds as the front runners for the post. Party insiders said that Kharge will continue as the Rajya Sabha leader at least for the winter session of Parliament and the party will take a call on his replacement later. "As senior leaders are occupied with Bharat Jodo Yatra, the party feels that Kharge should continue for the time being," said a leader.

Congress may end 3,500-km Bharat Jodo on Republic Day

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Congress party, according to sources, has taken a big decision for the selection of a special day for Bharat Jodo Yatra. According to sources, the Congress has decided that the Bharat Jodo Padyatra, which started from Kanyakumari on September 7, will conclude on January 26 in Kashmir covering a distance of about 3500 km. "In fact, the Congress was going to end this yatra by hoisting the tricolour in Srinagar on February 20, but now under the new strategy, Rahul Gandhi will conclude his yatra by hoisting the tricolour in Srinagar on Republic Day," said sources.

According to Congress sources, after January 26, a plenary session of the Congress will also be held before February 7, in which the name of Congress Party President Mallikarjun Kharge will be approved, after which the new Congress Working Committee will be formed. Immediately after that major changes will also be made in the Congress organisation which have been postponed for a long time.

A meeting of the Steering Committee is also scheduled to be convened on December 4 at Party Headquarters in Delhi.

As trust deficit with China stays, India beefs up LAC deployment

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

Indian and US troops honing skills in Auli, Uttarakhand | INDIAN ARMY

THE shadow of the trust deficit between India and China has pushed for troop and infrastructure beef-up across the Line of Actual Control (LAC), including the most peaceful Middle Sector. It has seen not just re-organisation of the troops but also the beef-up of arms, equipment and commensurate infrastructure continues.

Multiple sources on ground confirmed that the "our troops now reach the passes which are most important access points often in mountains, and they can do it even before the Chinese ground troops come for patrolling. It has been possible due to fast construction of roads".

"Movement in this terrain is difficult thus we are using All Terrain Vehicles, Snow Scooters. Also, we have strengthened our defences to bear the enemy fire. In addition, the Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) has also beefed up its presence into the areas which were otherwise thinly manned," added another source. The ITBP is a Border Guarding Force which manages the LAC with the Army.

There are around 22 Passes in the Middle Sector dotted on 545 kilometers and includes the boundaries shared with Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand. As per the Ministry of Home Affairs, the total length of LAC stands at 3,488 km divided into Western Sector (Ladakh), Middle Sector and Eastern Sector (Sikkim and Arunachal Pradesh).

The Middle Sector is considered least disputed, but Barahoti valley in this sector is one of the eight mutually accepted disputed areas on which both countries have overlapping claims. Also, it is the only sector in which there has been a broad agreement and where India and China have exchanged maps. But, now this area also is in the shadow of the doubts raised by China which breached all agreements and Memorandum of Understandings signed in 1993 and thereafter between the two countries. China carried out a massive force deployment in the Eastern Ladakh after the PLA soldiers clashed with the Indian Army troops at Finger 4 in May 2020.

Indian Army since then has affected a precautionary deployment all along the LAC and it included the Middle Sector. The Middle Sector and especially Uttarakhand is made of four valleys, starting with Harshil, Mana, Niti and Barahoti.

A third source confirmed that lessons were drawn from the mobilisation carried out by the PLA in Eastern Ladakh and one of them was the "quick mobilisation of armoured vehicles including their tanks into the areas which were not expected."

"Indian Army has drawn a major readiness plan to defence its borders and Armoured elements have been deployed in every sector, including the middle sector, as per the requirements," he said.

Another development on ground included reorganisation of the military formations carried out along the LAC with the troops under the Western Command.

RECRUITMENT

UPSC to hold 2-tier exam for Railways from 2023

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

NOW, the recruitment to Indian Railway Management Services (IRMS) will be conducted through a specially designed examination by the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) from the next year onwards.

The Ministry of Railway has taken a decision in this regard after months of consultation with Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) and the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT).

According to an official notification issued by the ministry on Friday, the Indian Railway Management Service (IRMS) will be a 2-tier examination — the preliminary screening and the main written examination followed by interview.

"In fact, aspirants for railways services will have to appear in Civil Services (Preliminary) Examination and suitable number of candidates will be screened for IRMS (Main) examination," said an official.

The Ministry of Railway has also decided the optional subjects for the aspirants. The optional subjects for IRMS are Civil engineering, Mechanical engineering, Electrical engineering and Commerce and accountancy, which an aspirant can choose as only one optional subject.

Elite understanding of democracy not correct, must be rejected: CJI

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

STRESSING the role played by Universal Adult Franchise as an agent of change in the electoral democracy, Chief Justice of India DY Chandrachud on Friday said that we must reject every form of elite understanding of the democratic process that only the educated are better decision-makers.

Speaking at the 8th Dr LM Singhvi Memorial Lecture on Universal Adult Franchise: Translating India's Political Transformation into Social Transformation, he said that individuals, whom society has despised as being uneducated, have shown tremendous political acumen and awareness of local problems, which even the educated may not understand.

Vice President Jagdeep Dhankar was the chief guest of the event. The event was also attended by SC judges, MP/MLAs, Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal and other legal dignitaries.

"The elite perceptions that only educated or few individuals should have the right to vote shows contempt and distrust towards democracy. Since independence, there are lakhs of examples how individuals have used the power they received in the form of their right to vote to exercise political power beyond merely electing representatives, as they formed pressure groups and movements exerting and influencing the elected representatives to further the rights of individuals and engineer a social transformation. This is truly reflective of participative democracy," he said. He also said that electoral democracy has been an agent of pervasive change at the village and municipal levels.

We must reject every form of elite understanding of the democratic process which we keep hearing constantly that only the educated are better decision-makers

DY Chandrachud, CJI

"The reservation of seats for women and marginalised social groups in panchayats has given them the power to shape their own destinies. There are numerous examples of exemplary work done by women sarpanchs or all-women panchayats in different parts of India. This also demonstrates the bottom-top approach of governance," the CJI said.

He said right from the very first elections in independent India, Indian citizens have demonstrated a lot of enthusiasm in participating in the electoral process.

"Several constitutional commentators had believed that India will not be able to survive as a constitutional democracy. But the Indian citizens have proved such thoughts to be wrong," the CJI said.

He said one aspect which we must emphasise is the participation in the electoral process by those communities who initially did not have the right to vote but were granted the right by the Constitution.

"Post-independence history tells us that the marginalised communities such as Dalits have considered the right to vote and the idea of universal adult franchise as the sacrosanct feature of the Indian Constitution," he said.

Also speaking at the event, Vice President Jagdeep Dhankar appealed institutions (executive, judiciary and legislature) to work in harmony and tandem for rise of people and the country. Without expressly referring to SC's verdict that had struck down NJAC as unconstitutional, the Vice President said that power of people was undone.

"Parliament in 2015-16 was dealing with a constitutional amendment and entire Lok Sabha voted unanimously. There was no dissent and the amendment act was passed. In Rajya Sabha, there was one absention. So the people's ordainment was converted into a constitutional provision. It was power of people reflected through most certified mechanism on a legitimised platform. That power was undone," he said.

Shivaji jibe: Koshyari may be removed after Guj poll

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER the Gujarat state assembly elections, Maharashtra governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari is likely to be removed for his controversial remarks against Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj. A BJP leader said that the Gujarat elections will get over on December 8 so after that the fate of the Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari will be decided by the top leadership of the BJP.

"We already conveyed our message to top leadership, but they are busy in Gujarat elections. The counting of the Gujarat elections is on December 8. After that there are chances of taking over Governor Bhagat Singh Kosyari's fate whether to remove him or shift to a different state as governor. We can only convey the message, the authority has to take the decision," said a senior BJP leader requested anonymity.

Governor during his convocation speech recently said that Shivaji Maharaj is an old era hero while Union minister Nitin Gadkari is a modern era hero. Sudhanshu Trivedi during the television debate said that Shivaji Maharaj five times filed mercy petitions to Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb.

BJP Rajya Sabha MP and direct descendant of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Chhatrapati Udayanraje Bhosale has lashed out against Kosyari and Trivedei for their remarks.

Gandhi bust at UN HQ will reinforce India's quest for peace

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA'S month long presidency in United Nations Security Council will witness a landmark — the installation of a bust of Mahatma Gandhi in the north lawn of the UN Headquarters on December 14.

External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar and UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres will be present at the inauguration. The other attendees of the ceremony would include five incoming new Council members — Ecuador, Japan, Malta, Mozambique and Switzerland.

"These five new members, whose two-year tenure at the Council, will begin on January 1, 2023, will replace India, Ireland, Kenya, Mexico and Norway and join the five permanent members China, France, Russia, the UK and the US as well as non-permanent members Albania, Brazil, Gabon, Ghana and the United Arab Emirates," said sources.

The bust of Gandhi has been sculpted by renowned Indian sculptor Ram Sutar, who has also designed the 'Statue of Unity'. Gandhi's legacy of peace and non-violence and PM Modi's assertion that this is "No Era for War" is amongst the factors instrumental in the installation of the Gandhi bust at UNHQ.

Other notable works of art at UNHQ include a section of the Berlin wall donated by Germany, a Soviet sculpture Let Us Beat Swords into Ploughshares, a life-size bronze statue of Nelson Mandela gifted by South Africa, and the 'Guernica' tapestry after the painting Guernica by Pablo Picasso.

"The only other gift from India presently on display at the UN Headquarters is a 11th-century black-stone statue of 'Surya', the Sun God, that was installed on July 26, 1982. The statue, dating from the late Pala period is currently displayed in the Conference Building. This was presented as a gift by then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to the United Nations.

'No Era for War'

The bust of Gandhi has been sculpted by renowned Indian sculptor Ram Sutar, who has also designed the 'Statue of Unity'. Gandhi's legacy of peace and non-violence and PM Modi's assertion that this is "No Era for War" is amongst the factors instrumental in the installation of the Gandhi bust at UNHQ.

Meanwhile, India, on December 1, assumed the monthly rotating presidency of the Security Council, the second after August 2021 that India is presiding over the Council during its two-year tenure as an elected UNSC member.

India's 2021-2022 term on the Council ends on December 31, with Ruchira Kamboj, India's first woman Permanent Representative to the United Nations in New York, sitting in the president's seat at the horseshoe table for the month.

"Our presidency will mark the arrival of Mahatma Gandhi at UN. There would be two signature events that would be chaired by Jaishankar. They are the reformed multilateralism and the counter terrorism," said Kamboj. Meanwhile, an event organised under India's month-long presidency, will also witness the launch of a "Group of Friends" for accountability of crimes against UN peacekeepers. "Robust peacekeeping has been one of our priorities of the Security Council," Kamboj added.

PM sharpens attack on Cong: 'Stall, delay & mislead'

Says he is being abused for putting an end to corruption and blames previous Cong governments for stalling development projects

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi coined yet another slogan to get back at the Congress – 'latakna, latkaana aur bhatkaana (stall, delay and mislead)' – in his election rally in Kankrej village of Banaskantha district. The voting for the second phase of Gujarat polls is due on December 5.

The PM said those who looted the poor in the country were now abusing him for putting an end to corruption. He accused Congress of stalling the development of Gujarat for decades. "The Congress has come to be known for 'latkana, latkaana aur bhatkana'. Whatever the work, the Congress sees its own interest first, and the interest of the country later," said Modi.

Blaming the Congress for its failure to understand the problems faced by farmers, he said many irrigation projects were stalled by Congress leaders. "These works were completed after the BJP took over," he said.

The PM alleged that the previous Congress governments never bothered to bring the Narmada river water to the parched regions of Gujarat.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi waves at supporters during his election campaign roadshow for Gujarat Assembly polls, in Ahmedabad on Friday | PTI

"Congress busied itself in scams. It had made corruption a virtue," he said.

"Since Congress leaders received kickbacks in relief works. People didn't get even water because Congress leaders knew that if water was supplied, their illegal income will dry up," said the PM. Later in the afternoon, addressing a public meeting at Patan, PM said the country is confident that no matter how big the challenges are only the BJP would find solutions.

Around the same time, Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge addressed a public rally at north Gujarat's Aravali's Bhiloda, and again targeted the Prime Minister.

"He (Modi) says the Congress and the opposition give him two kilos of 'gaali' every day. However, you can't even digest food without abusing Congress," said Kharge.

"You (BJP leaders) insult our people in quintals -- it's sometime me, sometime Rahul Gandhi, and at times Sonia Gandhi. But, we don't say anything," said Kharge Attacking AAP, Kharge said vote for that party would mean helping the BJP.

Rebels play spoilsport for parties in battle for 34 central Guj seats

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

DISSIDENTS from both BJP and Congress can hurt the parties on 34 seats in central Gujarat, where BJP won only seven of the 28 seats in 1998 elections, but post-Godhra riots, it strengthened its position, bagging 23 seats in 2002.

Central Gujarat is seen as a BJP stronghold where polling is due in the second phase on December 5. However, this time senior BJP leaders like Madhushrivastav and Dinesh Patel filed their candidature as independents after failing to find a place in the party list. That has put BJP under pressure. Vadodara city has been the party's bastion for years, but this time it is facing trouble in neighbouring Savli, Padra, Waghodia, Dabhoi, and Karajan seats where former BJP MLAs are fighting as Independents.

How anxious the BJP is to save this stronghold can be seen from the fact that it has fielded 76-year-old Yogesh Patel from Manjalpur constituency in Vadodra in spite of state party chief CR Patil's expressed caveat before the media that the party would not nominate those aged above 75 years. In Panchmahal district, the party is facing a tougher puzzle. Former BJP MP Prabhatsinh Chauhan, who recently quit the BJP, is contesting the Kalol seat as a Congress candidate.

Congress has its own fixed vote bank in central Gujarat. However, the party does not have an influential leader. In Narmada's Dediapada seat, the Bharatiya Tribal Party (BTP) is also facing the problem posed by a rebel who has filed his papers as an AAP candidate from Dediapada seat. Congress held the Chhota Udaipur seat in the north of Narmada for years, but this time, the BJP has inducted senior Congress leader and 11-time MLA Mohan Singh Rathawan, giving his son Rajendra Singh the ticket.

Min draws flak for comments on farmers

Local bodies minister Dr Inderbir Singh Nijjer landed himself in a controversy after his remarks on Punjabis. Nijjer who was in Amritsar, was talking on dwindling ground water level, said, "Punjabiyan toh bewakoof kaum koi ni" (There is no community stupider than Punjabis). He also said that farmers have become complacent with the wheat-paddy cycle and chose to use ground water, instead of canal water. Sensing trouble, he later apologised in a video message, "I am also a Punjabi and am well aware of the contribution the community has made. I apologise for the hurt my comments have caused."

Women officers calling shots in districts

Now women officers call the shots in Punjab. A 2013 batch IPS officer Kanwardeep Kaur is the new SSP of Ferozepur. Amrit Singh, a 2014 batch IAS officer is the first woman deputy commissioner, Promila Jaiswal is the CEO of Cantonment Board and Ekta Uppal is the CJM. Besides, Seema Sharma is the DRM of Ferozepur Railways. In the neighbouring district of Fazilka, IAS officer Seenu Duggal is the new deputy commissioner, whereas In Gurdaspur, Dr Nidhi Kumud Bamba is the additional deputy commissioner. Whereas, SDM Amandeep Kaur and her Batala counterpart Shayari Bhandari are charged with additional work.

No work at secretariat amid poll frenzy

Official administration work at the civil secretariat in Punjab remained affected as Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann, cabinet ministers, MLAs and other officials were on campaigning for the first phase of polling. As most of the ministers were away to poll-bound Gujarat, the corridors in the secretariat that normally sees a lot of hustle-bustle, remained deserted. As the bureaucrats, senior officials and other staff members have been out on election campaigning duty, not much official work has been being taken up, which is also the reason that hardly any files have moved.

Chhattisgarh House OKs bill to raise tribal quota to 32%

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

A special session of the Chhattisgarh Assembly on Friday unanimously passed an reservation amendment bill that took the total quota in the state to a whopping 76% with the tribal component at 32%.

Called the Chhattisgarh Public Service (Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes Reservation) Amendment bill, it was passed after extensive deliberations.

The amendment bill raised the ST quota to 32% and ST to 13% and that for OBCs to 27%. The new element was the 4% reservation to the EWS in educational institutions and the state government jobs.

"The bill will be soon sent to Governor Anusuiya Uike for assent. In districts where the strength of the EWS is higher, the proposed quota for them may proportionally rise up to 10% but at the state level it will be 4%," said CM Bhupesh Baghel. Leader of the Opposition Narayan Chandel questioned why the report of the Quantifiable Data Ayog was not tabled in the House. "The state government should have presented the data that formed the basis of the reservation," he said.

ED arrests C'garh CM aide in money laundering case

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

DEPUTY secretary in Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel's office Soumya Chaurasia was remanded in the Enforcement Directorate custody for four days by the special Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) court in Raipur on Friday. Earlier in the day, the ED arrested Chaurasia in the coal extortion case and produced her before the special court of additional sessions judge Ajay Singh Rajput.

Chaurasia's name surfaced after a series of raids carried out by the ED in various districts of Chhattisgarh on October 11. It was followed by searches in the official premises of three IAS officers and a couple of leaders of the ruling Congress. "The ED sought 14-day remand, but the court allowed only four days. Chaurasia was earlier summoned nine times and she appeared for interrogation before the agency. There is an attempt to malign her reputation," said Faisal Rizvi, the counsel for Chaurasia told this paper.

The federal agency had earlier arrested IAS officer Sameer

Soumya Chaurasia

Vishnoi, alleged kingpin Suryakant Tiwari and two businessmen in a coal scam under the money laundering case. They are now in Raipur central jail under judicial remand.

The ED claimed to have centred on a cartel, involving senior bureaucrats, businessmen, and politicians that entered into an alleged criminal conspiracy pertaining to a massive scam in which an illegal levy of Rs 25 per ton of coal was extorted.

It was alleged that Tiwari, who acted as the main kingpin, operated a parallel system to extort the illegal levy. "Around Rs 2-3 crore was generated on a daily basis," the ED had estimated.

Moosewala murder mastermind detained in US

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

CANADA-based gangster Satinderjeet Singh alias Goldy Brar, the mastermind behind the killing of Punjabi singer Shubhdeep Singh Sidhu alias Sidhu Moosewala has been detained in California, USA.

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann has confirmed the detention of Goldy Brar in the US and claimed that he will soon be brought back to India.

Mann said, "Brar was detained by California police. He will be in the custody of Punjab Police soon. We will definitely bring Goldy Brar to India as per the treaty with the US so that the families who have lost their sons and daughters find some solace. Brar was the main mastermind, and there are others as well whose records are with us," he said.

Sources said that Brar, a native of Muktsar, had gone to Canada on a student visa in 2017 and few months back he was crossed over into the US.

SC cross at sniping by ex-collegium members

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

A Supreme Court bench on Friday took a swipe at a few former collegium members who have been vocal in their criticism of the system, observing it has now become a fashion for them to do so after retirement.

Justice M R Shah, who is currently part of the collegium headed by Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud said, "We don't want to comment upon anything made by former members (of the collegium). Now it has become fashion to comment upon decisions made by earlier members."

The remarks were made by the bench while considering a plea by RTI activist Anjali Bharadwaj, who sought the agenda, minutes and resolution of a Supreme Court collegium meeting on December 12, 2018, under the RTI Act. The SC came under the RTI Act in late 2019.

According to the autobiography of former CJI Ranjan Gogoi, Justice for the Judge, the collegium had agreed in its December 2018 meeting to recommend the names of Justice Pradeep Nandrajog, who was then the Chief Justice of Rajasthan High Court, and Justice Rajendra Menon, the then Chief Justice of Delhi High Court, for elevation to the Supreme Court but the decision was kept in abeyance since the news of their elevation had leaked.

Apart from CJI Gogoi, the other members of the then collegium were justices Madan B Lokur, A K Sikri, S A Bobde and N V Ramana. The resolution of the next collegium meeting on January 10, 2019, recorded that the decisions taken on December 12, 2018, were revisited and overturned "in the light of additional materials".

Terming Bharadwaj's plea as a "fishing inquiry by a busy body", Justice Shah said, "Let the system which is functioning not be derailed. Let the collegium perform its duty."

On advocate Prashant Bhushan's submission that the SC was itself backfiring after declaring the Right to Information as a fundamental right, the bench rebutted it saying, "We're the most transparent institution. We're not backfiring." In February 2019, Bharadwaj had filed an RTI request seeking a copy of the minutes of the resolution of the SC collegium's December, 2018 meeting. While the Central Public Information Officer had dismissed the plea, the first appellate authority observed that the January 10, 2019 collegium resolution had made it clear that no resolution was formally passed in the December meeting since consultations could not be completed.

Uttarakhand schoolgirls hit by mass hysteria, parents blame it on God

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE Government Inter College Ramak, located about 90 km from Champawat district headquarters in Uttarakhand, has seen at least 39 girl students crying, shouting and running away from classes together these days. Their parents have blamed it on God's "wrath." The education department has described the strange behaviour as mass hysteria. The matter came to light on Wednesday evening when Chief Education Officer Jitendra Saxena reached the school.

There are 82 girls and 69 boys studying in Ramak GIC of Pati block. The school administration says since the last week of November, many girl students from classes 6 to 12 have suddenly started running away after crying and shouting, complaining of a headache. Every day after school recess, at least five girl students have suffered such a bout.

"A team led by medical officer in-charge Dr Gursharan Kaur has been sent to the school. The team has conducted a counselling camp. It has prima facie found that a lack of communication with symptoms of behavioural disorder is a major reason for the problem," said Champawat CMO Dr K K Aggarwal.

"However, the people of the village call it an outbreak of the deity's wrath," said Aggarwal. Speaking to this paper, Dr Divya Ghai Chopra, MD, an expert in the field of psychiatry and women's mental health, said, "Victims generally experience symptoms like chest pain, dizziness, headaches, fainting, shaking and twitching. A partial paralysis, unstoppable laughing or crying can affect the speech pattern."

She says it eventually turns into a mass hysteria, which is a type of conversion disorder or dissociative disorder that involves emotional or mental stress or physical symptoms induced by stress," said Dr. Divya. She said another important factor that triggers such a situation is taboos about menstruation that exist in rural society and its impact on a girl's emotional state. "Sometimes, this leads to low self-esteem, anxiety and depression," she added.

"This kind of condition usually starts verbally and visually. Therefore, people who see or hear about someone with symptoms often start experiencing the same symptoms themselves," says Dr Divya. In July this year, many girl students started screaming at the Government Girls Junior High School at Raikholi in Bageshwar. The health of eight students deteriorated over the course of four days, sources said.

A factor that triggers such a situation is taboos about menstruation that exist in rural society... Sometimes, this leads to low self-esteem, anxiety and depression. —DR DIVYA CHOPRA, psychiatrist

First festival celebrating Indo-Bangla ties opens

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE first Sylhet-Silchar Festival celebrating the close cultural ties between the neighbouring regions of India and Bangladesh was inaugurated in Assam's Barak Valley on Friday. Being celebrated as a two-day festival, it coincided with the 75th year of India's independence and the 50th anniversary of the liberation of Bangladesh from Pakistan.

In an attempt to boost bilateral relations between the two countries, the festival is being organized by the India Foundation under the aegis of the Union Ministry of Culture in association with the Bangladesh Foundation for Regional Studies.

"With the aim of revisiting the common values and shared heritage of the twin cities and their people separated by international borders, the festival will showcase tribal culture, cuisine, arts, crafts and local produce, entertainment and bring together eminent people from both sides to discuss and deliberate on issues of mutual growth and opportunity," the organisers said in a statement.

In addition, the festival will provide a platform to explore multi-disciplinary trade opportunities in sectors such as healthcare, tourism, education and digital infrastructure.

With the support of the Ministry of Culture, Government of India, Assam government and in association with the Bangladesh India Friendship Society and India-Bangladesh Chamber of Commerce & Industry, the festival will mark the first step towards creating potential opportunities for all involved.

It will be addressed by personalities including Mizoram Governor Dr Kambhampati Hari Babu, Union Minister for Culture, Tourism & Development of North Eastern Region G KIshan Reddy, Bangladesh Foreign Affairs Minister Dr AK Abdul Momen, India's Minister of State for External Affairs and Education Dr Rajkumar Ranjan Singh and Bangladesh High Commissioner to India Md Mustafizur Rahman.

The delegation from Bangladesh is led by Momen and it comprises the members of parliament, representatives of trade organisations, political and social leaders, academics, artists and practitioners.

In his speech, Silchar MP Dr Rajdeep Roy spoke about undivided Sylhet which also had Assam's Barak Valley.

"We are at the cusp of history. It is by a stroke of providence that this beautiful land got divided into two. After the Liberation War, India was one of the first states to recognise Bangladesh. Today, we see that relationship between the two countries has gone far and wide," Roy said.

He said during the two days of the festival, the two sides would reminisce their olden history, civilisation, art and culture. Bangladesh Foreign Affairs Minister Dr AK Abdul Momen said such engagements would further consolidate the bilateral relations. "Assam and India occupy a special place in my heart and memory because my grandfather was in the Assam Civil Services and he served in many cities of Assam," Dr Momen said.

Oil Min to seek another aid package for OMCs

Under-recoveries of oil marketing companies on petrol and diesel at present are more than ₹20,000 crore

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE petroleum ministry will seek a relief package from the finance ministry for the losses oil marketing companies (OMCs) incurred on holding petrol and diesel prices in the past eight months, said an official of the oil ministry.

The official further said that India will keep buying Russian oil in future as it is not sanctioned yet.

"We will approach the Finance Ministry to seek compensation for oil companies' losses for the entire year," said the official. Currently, the under-recoveries on petrol and diesel are more than ₹20,000 crore.

The oil companies, which usually revise fuel prices on a daily basis in line with international crude prices, haven't revised oil prices for the past eight months. This is despite importing inflated crude from the international market. Subsequently, the oil companies had to face massive losses. The government in October this year granted a ₹22,000-crore package to OMCs to recover their losses.

The basket of crude oil that India imports had gone as high as $116 per barrel in June but has come to $83.23 per barrel in November. Indian Oil Corporation (IOC), Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (BPCL) and Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited (HPCL) posted a combined net loss of Rs 21,201.18 crore in April-September. This loss would have been higher if the government wouldn't have provided Rs 22,000 crore LPG subsidy for past years. "Currently, there are no under-recoveries on LPG, but we have on petrol and diesel. The companies holding the prices benefited the economy in terms of not adding to the already high inflation rate, thus there is a case for the oil marketing companies (OMCs) to be compensated," added the official. On the issue of the price cap proposed by the European countries on Russian oil, the official said it would keep buying the oil from Russia. "Nobody is saying don't buy Russian oil, the price cap is not saying don't buy Russian oil. It is saying if you buy above this price, then a certain kind of service will not be provides," he added. Even as the crude price in the international market cooled down in the past few weeks, the official hinted it won't have any impact or reduction in oil price in the domestic markets.

Make good the loss

- IOC, BPCL, HPCL posted a combined net loss of ₹21,201.18 cr in Apr-Sept
- The loss would have been higher if govt wouldn't have provided ₹22K cr LPG subsidy for past years
- Oil companies haven't revised oil prices for past 8 months
- Basket of crude that India imports had gone as high as $116 per barrel in June

Auto prices continue to rise, MSIL cars get dearer from Jan

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

GET ready to pay more for automobiles as India's top carmaker Maruti Suzuki on Friday said it planned to increase the price of its vehicles in January 2023, citing continued cost pressure due to inflation and recent regulatory requirements.

"The company continues to witness increased cost pressure driven by overall inflation and recent regulatory requirements. While the company makes maximum effort to reduce cost and partially offset the increase, it has become imperative to pass on some of the impact through a price increase. The Company has planned this price increase in January, 2023 which shall vary across models," said MSIL in a regulatory filing.

This is the second time this financial year when MSIL is going for a price hike. The Brezza and Baleno maker in April 2022 had increased prices of its entire model range between 0.9 to 1.9% While most automakers increasing vehicles prices in the first month of every calendar year to offset inflationary pressure is a regular exercise, there has been far too many price hikes in recent years. For example, MSIL had hiked vehicle prices by around 8.8% from January 2021 to March 2022.

Not only Maruti Suzuki, other carmakers too have initiated steep price hikes in recent times. Tata Motors had last month informed that effective November 7, 2022, the weighted average increase for its passenger vehicles will be 0.9%. This was Tata's fourth price hike in 2022. SUV major Mahindra & Mahindra has increased the prices of its best-selling - XUV700 and Thar- for at least three times this year.

India's leading two-wheeler maker Hero MotoCorp has increased the prices of its motorcycles and scooters by up to Rs 1,500, with effect from December 1, 2022.

Tata Motors, Hero too raise vehicle prices

- Maruti had in April increased prices of entire model range by 0.9-1.9%
- Tata Motors has so far hiked car prices for fourth time this year
- Hero MotoCorp has hiked prices for fourth time this fiscal alone

Equity market snaps 8-day rally, Sensex plunges 415 points

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIAN indices on Friday took a break from the record-breaking rally with the two benchmarks – Sensex and Nifty -- shedding over a half percentage points.

As per market analysts, investors were booking profit ahead of monthly US jobs report that would give some clarity on future interest rate hikes. Auto stocks in particular faced increased selling pressure after manufacturers reported lower than expected sales for the month of November. The BSE Sensex gave up its 63,000 psychological level and tanked 415 points to close at 62,868. Meanwhile, the broader Nifty dropped 116 points to end the week at 18,696. "As the market was in an overbought zone after the recent upsurge, correction was due for some time and hence investors booked profit in a trading session marked by weak Asian and European cues," said Amol Athawale, deputy vice-President - technical research, Kotak Securities.

He added, "The recent GDP numbers and GST collections came in line with expectations, but global news flow will continue to dictate the market trend, going ahead. The two immediate triggers -- RBI's credit policy next week and the US Fed meeting in mid-December on the rate front would determine the investors' mood in the near term." Before today's marginal drop, India's equity rallied for eight straight sessions during which it set many records. Going ahead, most analysts are confident that the rally would continue with Nifty soon touching the 19,000 level.

"After rallying 4%, the market seems to have taken a pause and is likely to consolidate for the next few days. However, overall trend remains positive with Nifty headed towards 19K zones," said Siddhartha Khemka, head - retail research, Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

According to Khemka, investors would also watch for outcome of Gujarat state election that is due next week.

Among Nifty stocks, Eicher Motors, M&M, Tata Consumer Products, HUL and Hero MotoCorp witnessed maximum fall while Apollo Hospitals, Grasim Industries, Tech Mahindra and Tata Steel were top gainers.

CHINA

BOC WITNESSES MODERATE INFLATION IN 2023

China's central bank will focus on supporting the slowing economy, People's Bank of China Governor Yi Gang said on Friday, adding that domestic consumer inflation is expected to stay moderate in 2023. The central bank's accommodative policy will help support China's economic recovery and employment, Yi said in a video speech to the Bank of Thailand-BIS conference in Bangkok. "Our focus is growth right now," Yi said, adding that China's economic growth is slower than expected because of the impact from the COVID-19 pandemic and other headwinds. Yi said advanced and emerging-market economies should improve policy collaboration to cope with challenges faced by the global economy because of various factors. "We have a pretty accommodative monetary policy in place to help with economic recovery and maximize employment," he added. The economic growth rate is currently "slightly slower than expected because of Covid and other factors," Yi said.

SOUTH KOREA

BOK 'S RHEE 'NOT SO SURE' ABOUT DIGITAL CURRENCIES

South Korea's central bank Governor Rhee Chang-yong said he became sceptical of the benefits of new technologies related to Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDC), after recent events in the cryptocurrency market. "If I narrowly focus on the technology of blockchain and new technologies related with crypto, stablecoin, and DeFi (decentralised finance), I am not so sure whether we are seeing the benefit of this technological development recently," Rhee said on Friday at a central banking conference in Thailand. "I was more positive before, but after seeing the Luna, Terra, and now the FTX issues ... I don't know (if) we will see the real benefit of this new technology, at least for monetary policy," said Rhee, a panelist at a session on digital currency. TerraUSD, a so-called stablecoin that was once among the top 10 cryptocurrencies globally by market value, broke its 1:1 peg to the US dollar last May, plunging in value together with its paired token Luna and sending the crypto market into a turmoil.

INDONESIA

'INFLATION EXPECTATIONS COMING DOWN'

Indonesia's central bank governor Perry Warjiyo said on Friday inflation expectations were coming down rapidly after Bank Indonesia (BI) started hiking interest rates aggressively four months ago. He told a central banking forum in Bangkok that the consensus forecast for Indonesia's inflation was at 6.9% four months ago, but now is approaching 5.5%, BI's own forecast. After we aggressively responded through interest rates, the gap between consensus forecast and our forecast is narrowing," he said, reiterating the need for "front-loaded, pre-emptive and forward-looking" interest rate policy. BI has hiked the benchmark interest rate by 175 basis points in the past four months. Warjiyo reiterated BI's goal to lower core inflation back to its target range of 2%-4% in the first half of 2023 and lower the headline inflation to within target by the second half next year. Indonesia's annual headline inflation in November eased to 5.42% from 5.71% in October.

NPCI extends UPI volume cap deadline until December 2024

THE National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) on Friday extended the deadline for third-party UPI players to achieve its 30% volume cap in digital payment transactions to end-December 2024.

The decision may provide a relief to third-party app providers (TPAP) like Google Pay and Walmart's PhonePe, which have a majority share in UPI-based transactions. NPCI runs the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) used for real-time payments between peers or at merchants' end while making purchases.

In November 2020, NPCI had announced to limit a single third party app to handle only 30 per cent of overall UPI transaction volumes. The cap was to come in force from January 1, 2021. ENS

Mohalla Tech fires 5% staff; shuts down Jeet11 app

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

MOHALLA TECH, the parent company of social media platform ShareChat and short video platform Moj, has shut down its fantasy sports app Jeet11 and nearly 110 employees have been laid off.

As per sources, most of the employees laid off were from non-tech roles. It employs over 2,200 employees. A spokesperson from ShareChat said, "As a standard business practice, we periodically evaluate our strategies. We can confirm that we are ceasing operations of Jeet11 and have reorganized some of our functions, which meant movement of this talent within teams and a few employee exits." "This process has impacted less than 5% of our employees. We continue to focus on robust growth and hiring across various functions and roles as per our plans," the spokesperson said. To succeed as India's fastest-growing social media company, we assess our strategy regularly and make necessary changes to achieve our vision, the spokesperson added. This comes just a week after the parent company of news aggregator Dailyhunt and short-video platform Josh, VerSe Innovation, fired 150 employees- about 5% of its total workforce. ShareChat, the homegrown platform has over 180 million monthly active users. Meanwhile, US food delivery platform DoorDash, has fired 1,250 people that includes Indian-origin Sri Venkatesh Sankaran. In a LinkedIn post, he said, "DoorDash has let go of 1,250 staff and I was one of them. After 4 years at DoorDash, I never thought I would be impacted during this #layoffs season."

Inter-state fee waived on hydro power

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a bid to achieve its power requirement from renewable energy sources, power ministry has issued an order for the waiver of inter-state transmission system (ISTS) charges on transmission of electricity generated from new hydro-power projects.

The said waiver is already available to solar and wind power projects.

In 2019, the government declared hydro power projects as the renewable source of power in March, 2019, However, waiver of inter-state transmission charges, provided to solar and wind projects, had not been extended to hydro power projects.

"In order to remove this discrepancy and to provide a level playing field to hydro projects, the ministry decided to extend the waiver of ISTS Charges on the transmission of power from new hydro power projects.

"Government has set an ambitious plan to have 500 GW of generation capacity from non-fossil energy based sources by 2030. Hydro power projects, being clean, green and sustainable will be of paramount importance in our clean energy transition journey," said the ministry in a statement.

'Investors will continue to bet on fintech and SaaS based start-ups'

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

WITH layoffs and restructuring happening across various firms, founders of data and software platform for the private markets globally Tracxn say in terms of existing companies, the good ones will make through the present situation, and that fintech and Software as a Service (SaaS) firms will continue to see good momentum.

Investors will also continue to bet on these firms.

"It is interesting to see how companies are being started now during this period, and these founders are typically determined," said Neha Singh and Abhishek Goyal, co-founders of Tracxn Technologies. According to them, many good companies were founded during recessions.

Speaking to this newspaper, they said people will always invest in new markets and spacetech and D2C (direct-to-consumer) brands will do well.

Tracxn, which was founded in 2012, became a publicly listed company on October 20, 2022. Both the founders worked in venture capital firms before starting their own company.

They decided that India would be the best place to start a data platform for private markets. According to them, there is only limited competition in the private market data space, as only five or six companies work in this industry.

With over 1,100 customers in 50 different countries, the company's customers include VC and private equity firms. They also work with investment banks, M&A and innovation teams of large corporates. About 70% of their revenues come from the international market.

The private market data is a large and expanding industry and the private market AUM has crossed $9 trillion, and is growing at around 12%, they said.

Hwang Hee-chan nets late winner against Portugal, pips Uruguay by smallest of margins

AGENCIES @Doha

SUBSTITUTE Hwang Hee-chan scored the winner in injury time to rescue South Korea from the brink of World Cup elimination in a thrilling 2-1 victory over already-qualified Portugal on Friday.

The Wolverhampton Wanderers' forward slipped in the winner in the 91st minute at Education City Stadium in Qatar to spark delirium and tears among the Korean fans. Talisman Son Heung-min, who set up the winner, collapsed to the floor and lay on his back on the turf at the final whistle. He had tears in his eyes.

The Korean players then stood in a huddle on the pitch watching the Ghana vs Uruguay match on a mobile phone as they awaited their place in the last 16 to be confirmed.

A much-changed Portugal had taken a fifth-minute lead through Ricardo Horta but the Koreans, who had to win to stand any chance of staying alive, hit back in the 27th minute through Kim Young-gwon.

Portugal skipper Cristiano Ronaldo played a part in the Korean equaliser, turning his back on a corner and the ball hitting him to set up Kim. South Korea and their skipper Son, in a mask after recent surgery, needed to score again but they failed to really trouble Portugal until Son set up Hwang in injury time after a fine run.

While it was joy for the South Korea camp, it ended in tears for Uruguay, who just missed out despite beating Ghana 2-0 on the day. Giorgian De Arrascaeta scored both the goals. Until Hwang's late strike, the South American side were placed second in the group standings.

Pulisic on track to play against Dutch

DOHA: Christian Pulisic is on track to play for the United States in against the Netherlands on Saturday. Pulisic left Tuesday's final group stage match against Iran at halftime after bruising his pelvic bone in a collision with the goalkeeper while scoring in the 38th minute. The Americans won 1-0 to advance. "It looks pretty good, but we'll have to see him today on the pitch to get confirmation of that," US coach Gregg Berhalter said before Friday's training session. Pulisic, a 24-year-old winger, said on Thursday he was feeling better. Forward Josh Sargent left the Iran match in the second half after hurting his right ankle. "With Christian we're hopeful, with him a little less so," Berhalter said.

US coach to draw on Dutch lessons

DOHA: Gregg Berhalter felt like a student when he signed with the Dutch club Zwolle 28 years ago. The US coach plans to apply the lessons he learned when the Americans play the Netherlands on Saturday. "I went to Holland just out of university and (was) totally unprepared for professional level soccer," Berhalter said Friday. "If I wasn't in Holland, I don't think I would have had that building that really helped shape my ideas." Now 49, Berhalter will match tactics against Louis van Gaal, at 71 the oldest coach in the World Cup. Van Gaal guided the Netherlands to third place in the 2014 tournament and has won seven league titles with Ajax, AZ Alkmaar, Barcelona and Bayern Munich.

MATCH POINT

An enterprising US have a rare opportunity to reach the quarterfinal when they face Netherlands who have underwhelmed thus far...

US'S MIDFIELD ENERGY

This aspect of the US has been one of the high points of the World Cup. The energy the three-man axis of Yunus Musah, Tyler Adams Weston McKennie have brought to the field have surprised all three teams, including England. Expect another ferocious opening 60 minutes before they start to tire.

A PRAGMATIC, RESULT IS KING APPROACH

Netherlands have oohed and aahed and stumbled their way into the knock-outs. They haven't been in any major trouble, nor have they caught the eye. It's a product of their result-oriented football. As a result, this is team that doesn't use the ball all that much and aren't even all that good at one-touch pass and move.

KEY PLAYERS

CODY GAKPO, NETHERLANDS

A lone bright spot for the Dutch has been the arrival of their attacker Cody Gakpo. He was one of the players to watch out for, and he has delivered scoring three of their five goals so far. He can receive in tight areas, pass and shoot.

ADAMS, US

The US skipper is the one who sets the tone with his pressing. He's the team's hearbeat. If Christian Pulisic can't take the field from the off, it will be a blow but Adams is an inspiring figure.

The moment that has been hotly debated. Japan's Kaoru Mitoma appears to have the ball over the line before crossing it for a goal against Spain on Thursday | AFP

Kaoru Mitoma changed the complexion of the game with his direct approach. He also had a major hand in Japan's winner, hooking the ball just as it appeared to go over the line. Or did it? A look at the moment, the goal and the controversy...

EXPRESS EXPLAINER

OVER THE LINE OR NOT?

1 What happened in the build up to the goal?

Ritsu Doan put in a teasing cross for one of the runners coming in from the left to attack. Mitoma and Daizen Maeda both attacked before Mitoma hooked the ball and got it to bounce over both the sliding Maeda and Spain right-back Dani Carvajal. It fell toz Ao Tanaka who lashed it home.

2 Did the linesperson give it?

The linesperson held his flag up to that the ball had crossed the line. Japan had cut shot their celebration while the referee was already communicating with VAR. The first replays suggested that the linesperson was right as the angles shown on TV suggested that the ball had gone out.

3 So why did VAR award the goal?

VAR has access to multiple angles including from above. The angle from above suggested that a tiny fraction of the ball was still in play — overhanging — when Mitoma flicked it back towards the goalmouth. It's likely that the VAR saw this angle and became convinced that the whole of the ball hadn't yet gone over the line.

4 Why did they ignore other angles?

Erm, this is where it gets interesting. The angle (in the first picture) suggests that the whole of the ball has completely left the field of play. But this is a common assumption to make. In physics, it is known as a parallax error. It's the displacement in the apparent position of the object caused by the viewing angle other than the angle perpendicular to the object (in this case, the ball).

5 What does the overhead angle say?

As is clear in the image, when the incident is viewed from top, at the point of impact, some part of the ball is overhanging in the field of play. This is what the rulebook says. "A goal kick is awarded when the whole of the ball passes over the goal-line, on the ground or in the air, having last touched a player of the attacking team, and a goal is not scored." The angle from up top suggested that whole of the ball was yet to go over the line.

VAR storm yet again as Japan progress

Express GOAL
SIDDHANTH ANEY @ DOHA

IF Arab unity is visible on the streets of Qatar, Europe seemed to come together on the night Japan beat Spain in Qatar. The second goal, turned in by Ao Tanaka from a ball put in by Kaoru Mitoma, one that effectively knocked Germany out of the tournament, seemed to have the entire lineup for former European footballers, pundits and Twitter warriors on the same page. From their point of view, the ball went out and Spain should have had a goal kick. South African referee Victor Gomes, assisted by VAR Fernando Guerrero clearly thought otherwise. The entire ball had not crossed the line, is what they saw; the goal stood and both Spain and Japan qualified.

Many of the same pundits who normally favour the use of technology, including Gary Neville, suddenly want the entire system to be binned. FIFA took pains to explain the 'curvature' of a football, essentially saying that even if the part in contact with the grass was outside the line, not all of the ball had crossed over when Mitoma hooked it back in. That, quite simply, is the rule.

In the post match press conference, English-speaking reporters pressed Japan head coach Hajime Moriyasu and player of the match Tanaka, for their thoughts. Since FIFA had brought in all this technology, and the refs had taken the call, who were they to dispute it, the Japanese implied.

Spain coach Luis Enrique himself was unequivocal. Though he was visibly upset with the way his side had collapsed in the second half to a Japan who were intelligent, aggressive, technically solid and defensively almost perfect, Enrique said he had complete faith in the technology and the systems FIFA had in place.

VAR and the new semi-automated offside technology have been the subject of much debate this World Cup. Debates have raged since the first round when two Argentina goals were cancelled out by the new system and Saudi Arabia went on to a famous victory. Had Argentina gone out of the tournament as well, the story would have been different.

In fact, FIFA has been taking pains to talk about the new tech from the start of the World Cup. After Portugal's first game, when Twitter was convinced Ronaldo got some skin on the Bruno Fernandes strike that eventually found the back of the net, a statement read, "In the match between Portugal and Uruguay, using the Connected Ball Technology housed in adidas's Al Rihla Official Match Ball, we are able to definitively show no contact on the ball from Cristiano Ronaldo for the opening goal in the game. No external force on the ball could be measured as shown by the lack of 'heartbeat' in our measurements. The 500Hz IMU sensor inside the ball allows us to be highly accurate in our analysis."

Japan players rejoice after beating Spain 2-1 on Thursday | AP

Real time data from ball

The match ball developed by Adidas in close collaboration with FIFA and KINEXON includes technology meant to provide real-time data to match officials. Apart from other info, the sensor captures every touch and is connected to associated technologies including the instadia camera system that allow the VAR to make informed decisions. It also provides precise, correlatable positional information from the ball, all of which is at the disposal of match officials and why it took some time for them to reach a decision. It is also tied in with the semi-auto offside system that we are seeing for the first time at a World Cup. It has 12 tracking cameras around the stadium apart from a sensor inside the Al Rihla ball, giving the VAR an automatic offside and eliminating the need for protracted replays.

The larger issue with the use of technology, particularly expensive, high end technology that can never be implemented at the grassroots, in a sport as widely played as football. Essentially, it creates a difference in how the game is played and judged. And if football's influential men can call for all of it to be thrown out the window, then no one would be happier.

Outspoken Van Gaal sets sight on road ahead

DOHA: Louis van Gaal has his sights set on an emotional World Cup run as the outspoken Netherlands coach prepares for Saturday's last 16 clash with the United States. The 71-year-old came out of retirement to coach the Netherlands last year despite his harrowing battle with aggressive prostate cancer. Criticised after the 2-0 win against Qatar for failing to play the expansive style that the Dutch regard as their birthright, Van Gaal didn't hold back. "I'm not going to expand on it because I think you have a different opinion of football," he told a reporter. "Why don't you write you think it is terribly boring and you are going home tomorrow because you couldn't care less?"

Socceroos up against odds & Messi

STEVE DOUGLAS @Doha

AUSTRALIA'S players speak in glowing, almost reverential terms about Lionel Messi. "He just does things that, you know, no one else can do," forward Mathew Leckie said.

Milos Degenek went even further. "Probably," the Socceroos defender said, "the best footballer ever to grace the game."

Imagine, then, how they'll be feeling on Saturday when they share the same field as Messi and his Argentina team in the last 16 of the World Cup.

These are pinch-yourself times for a group of unheralded players who were expected to be on their way home by this stage of the tournament. Yet here they are in Doha, looking to cause the latest upset in a World Cup that has been full of them — right from the moment Saudi Arabia shocked Argentina in perhaps the most unlikely win in the tournament's 92-year history. That set the tone for the past two weeks, during which Japan has beaten both Germany and Spain, Morocco has defeated Belgium, Tunisia has beaten France and, let's not forget, Australia has stunned Denmark. The Australians want to add to that list. "No one expects us to win," Leckie said. "So let's shock the world."

Don't expect any complacency among the Argentina squad, though. Not after what transpired against Saudi Arabia during the group stage.

"We know, at the moment, everything is very difficult," said Messi, who is bidding to win the World Cup in his fifth and likely last attempt. "All the opponents are complicated. We know it as well as anyone."

There is a growing feeling, though, that Argentina might have come through the worst of the storm. It is only a week ago that Argentine soccer was going through a period of introspection, digesting one of its most embarrassing results ever. AP

JULIAN ALVAREZ

It's churlish to not pick Messi but the forward's direct, penetrative running could be the key that unlocks Australia's yellow wall. He's a welcome addition.

HARRY SOUTTAR

The centre-back has been heroic with his defending so far. While Argentina have multiple threats, his battle with Alvarez could decide whether this stays competitive.

CLICKING BY CHANCE

The defeat against Saudi Arabia perhaps came at the right time for Argentina. It allowed Lionel Scaloni to tweak his team. In the process, he has seemingly found the answer to replace Giovani lo Celso. Play Julian Alvarez up top, bring in Enzo Fernandez and liberate Lionel Messi. It certainly worked against Poland.

THY NAME IS DISCIPLINE

The Socceroos are an interesting team in that you know what you are going to get but it's still hard to play against that. They defend deep, don't spring that many passes and try to break whenever they have an opportunity. Their xG across three team matches is fewer than two goals. But they will throw themselves in front of the ball.

Soul-searching begins for Germany

The 2014 champions exit at the first stage of the World Cup for second time in a row

CIARAN FAHEY @Al Khor

ANOTHER World Cup, another flop.

Former soccer power Germany is facing another round of soul-searching after going out of the sport's most important tournament at the first stage for the second time in a row.

Germany's players spoke afterward of good performances and missed chances — as they've done before. But no one had any real answers to the team's problems.

"There are 25 experts standing together here. You can all advise each other and then agree on a few details," Thomas Muller said after Germany's 4-2 win over Costa Rica on Thursday. Germany's fate was effectively decided when it lost its first game 2-1 to Japan, then followed up with a 1-1 draw with Spain. It left Germany at the bottom of Group E and dependent on a favour from Spain. It never came as Japan defeated Spain in its final game to top the group. Spain progressed ahead of Germany on goal difference.

"I never look at another team, it's up to us," Germany coach Hansi Flick said of relying on Spain. "I think ultimately the sum of everything contributed to us being eliminated. We had enough chances, whether in the first half or the first 60 minutes of the game against Japan, or even at the end against Spain, when we had another huge opportunity. You really have to take those chances."

What Flick failed to mention is that Spain also missed a host of chances to put its game against Germany out of reach before Niclas Fullkrug's late equalizer.

"We haven't been able to live up to expectations at the tournaments in recent years, because as a team, I would say we don't really have specialists running around everywhere. We have a lot of players who are very talented. Yes," Muller said. Germany, the 2014 World Cup champion, also crashed out during the group phase at the 2018 tournament in Russia. At last year's coronavirus-postponed European Championship, Germany was knocked out in the second round. AP

NUGGETS & TRIVIA

France's Zinedine Zidane and Brazil's Cafu hold the record for receiving the most cards. They each received six cautions.

The first player to score three or more goals in three consecutive World Cups was Germany's Jurgen Klinsmann. He was later joined by Brazil's Ronaldo and Germany's Miroslav Klose.

BELGIUM'S GOLDEN GENERATION IS OVER, WHERE NOW FOR MARTINEZ?

JAMES ROBSON @ Doha

HIS eyes welling up, Roberto Martinez said his goodbyes and left, his next whereabouts unknown. It is the end of an era for Belgium's golden generation. But for the man who led it to third place at the 2018 World Cup, it is the beginning of something new.

A return to club soccer is on Martinez' horizon after his six years in charge of Belgium ended in elimination at the group stage in Qatar with a goalless draw against Croatia on Thursday. Precisely which club remains to be seen and may be dependent on how the Spanish coach's time with Belgium's most celebrated group of players is assessed.

"I know some people only see a legacy by winning a major tournament. I see it in a different way," said Martinez, who was appointed in 2016. "I'm extremely proud, I love the way the team has played. The real fans in Belgium appreciate it. But it's the time for me to leave." Martinez said he "wanted to give it another go," at this World Cup, but that ultimately ended in disappointment at the Ahmad bin Ali Stadium and likely recrimination in the coming days.

Belgium is not the first team to be given the tag of "Golden Generation" only to then be accused of failing to live up to expectations.

England's class of David Beckham, Steven Gerrard and Wayne Rooney came up short in successive major tournaments. Former coach Sven-Goran Eriksson was blamed for wasting the talent at his disposal after bowing out of two World Cups and one European Championship, each at the quarterfinals stage, during his reign from 2001 to 2006. AP

Vijay Hazare Trophy: 'Supremely' fit Saurashtra annex title

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

AFTER coaching Saurashtra to their maiden Ranji Trophy title in the 2019-20 season, former India international Karsan Ghavri decided not to continue. It led to the promotion of long-time assistant coach Niraj Odedra to the hot seat. Soon after taking the reins of the team, Odedra spoke on the need to develop a side suited for all formats. He also highlighted the need for having a full-time trainer and other support staff considered necessary in modern-day cricket, especially in the limited-overs format.

Things started changing gradually as Saurashtra started doing well in limited-overs domestic tournaments (Syed Mushtaq Ali T20 Trophy and 50-over Vijay Hazare Trophy) once again. They reached the Vijay Hazare quarterfinals in 2020-21 and went a step ahead in the next season, losing the semifinal to eventual champions Tamil Nadu. They also made it to SMAT pre-quarters and quarters in the 2021-22 and 2022-23 seasons respectively.

But the big day, both the coach and his team, were waiting for arrived on Friday as they defeated unbeaten Maharashtra in the Vijay Hazare final in Ahmedabad. The title is their second in the tournament and it came after a gap of 15 years and three finals.

Saurashtra defeated Maharashtra by five wickets in the final on Friday

Given the roadmap he had prepared three seasons ago, the coach is bound to be emotional but now he wants the T20 title, the only domestic trophy missing from Saurashtra's cabinet. "Winning is a good habit. I am very emotional but we are hungry for more. There is one trophy left. SMAT. We came very close this season but it's always one step at a time. Last year, we lost the Vijay Hazare semifinal to Tamil Nadu. This time we won. I hope we win the T20 title next season," said Odedra.

It was veteran Sheldon Jackson's 133 that helped Saurashtra beat Maharashtra by five wickets in the summit clash. The day started with the coin flipping in Saurashtra's favour. As expected, they chose to field. "I must say the toss was important and luckily we won it. But after that, we executed our plans well as we bowled straight lines and in the right areas. Ruturaj was in form but that run out meant Maharashtra fell at least 30-40 runs short. After that, Jani claimed a hat-trick," he said.

Odedra credited the recent success to players' fitness. "I must say the players are supremely fit. I know what I said three seasons ago and our association gave us a full-time trainer this time. Fitness plays an important role in white-ball cricket."

Brief scores: Maharashtra 248/9 in 50 ovs (R Gaikwad 108; Chirag Jani 3/43) lost to Saurashtra 249/5 in 46.3 ovs (S Jackson 133 n.o, H Desai 50; M Chaudhary 2/38).

Xi mellows down a bit, tells EU he's ready to loosen Covid controls

BEIJING

PRESIDENT Xi Jinping suggested the spread of the less lethal Omicron strain might allow China to loosen its zero-Covid policy, senior EU officials reported on Friday, as cities across the country made further moves towards unwinding some restrictions.

Discontent with China's hardline pandemic response spilled onto the streets last weekend and expanded into calls for more political freedom, in widespread demonstrations not seen in decades. China's vast security apparatus has moved swiftly to smother the rallies, deploying a heavy police presence while boosting online censorship and surveillance of the population.

In his first known comments on the protests, Xi told European Union chief Charles Michel that the demonstrators were "mainly students or teenagers in university" who were fed up with Covid restrictions when the pair met in Beijing on Thursday, senior officials speaking on condition of anonymity said. Xi complained "that after three years of Covid that he had an issue because people were frustrated", they said.

They added that Xi had told Michel that given most cases in China were now of the Omicron variant, that "opens the way for more openness of the restrictions than what we have already seen in some regions". Chinese central government officials have already signalled that a broader relaxation of the zero-Covid policy could be in the works.

Speaking at the National Health Commission Wednesday, Vice Premier Sun Chunlan said the Omicron variant was weakening and vaccination rates were improving, according to the state-run Xinhua news agency. A central figure behind Beijing's pandemic response, Sun said this "new situation" required "new tasks".

She made no mention of zero-Covid in those remarks or in another meeting on Thursday, suggesting the approach, which has disrupted the economy and daily life, might soon be relaxed.

A number of cities have now begun loosening Covid restrictions, slowly moving away from daily mass testing and compulsory central quarantine – a tedious mainstay of life under zero-Covid policy.

But sporadic localised clashes have continued to flare up.

Social media footage posted Thursday night and geolocated by AFP showed dozens of people clashing with health workers in hazmat suits outside a school in Hubei province.

Meanwhile, cities across China further unwound Covid restrictions Friday, loosening testing and quarantine rules in the wake of nationwide protests calling for an end to lockdowns. Agencies

Putin says no talks till US blesses land grab

Rejects Biden's demand that Russia pull out of Ukraine before any negotiations, threatens to step up attacks

MOSCOW

KREMLIN on Friday said the the West's refusal to recognise "new territories" seized from Ukraine makes peace talks harder, after US President Joe Biden indicated he would be ready to meet Vladimir Putin.

"What did President Biden say in fact? He said that negotiations are possible only after Putin leaves Ukraine," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov told reporters, adding Moscow was "certainly" not ready to accept those conditions.

"The special military operation is continuing," Peskov said, using the Kremlin term for the assault on Ukraine.

During a state visit by French President Emmanuel Macron, Biden said Thursday he would be willing to speak to Putin if the Russian leader truly wants to end the fighting.

"I'm prepared to speak with Mr Putin if in fact there is an interest in him deciding he's looking for a way to end the war," the US leader said.

Peskov on Friday said Putin was ready for talks to ensure Russia's interests are respected but added that Washington's stance "complicates" any possible talks.

"The United States does not recognise new territories as part of the Russian Federation," Peskov said, referring to Ukrainian regions that the Kremlin claims to have annexed.

In September, Moscow held so-called referendums in four regions of Ukraine — Donetsk, Kherson, Lugansk and Zaporizhzhia — and said residents had voted in favour of becoming subjects of Russia.

The United Nations has condemned the "attempted illegal annexation" of Ukrainian land.

Peskov said that before sending troops to Ukraine on February 24 Putin had repeatedly proposed to hold talks with NATO, the OSCE and the United States but those attempts had proved "unsuccessful."

Meanwhile, President Putin said on Friday Russia's strikes on Ukrainian infrastructure were "inevitable".

Moscow "had long refrained from precision missile strikes against certain targets on the territory of Ukraine", Putin told German leader Olaf Scholz, according to a Kremlin readout of the phone talks.

"But now such measures have become a forced and inevitable response to Kyiv's provocative attacks on Russia's civilian infrastructure," the Kremlin said, referring in particular to the October attack on a bridge linking Crimea to the Russian mainland. Agencies

13,000 troops killed: Ukraine

A top adviser to Ukraine's president has cited military chiefs as saying over 10,000 to 13,000 Ukrainian soldiers have been killed in the country's nine-month struggle against Russia's invasion, a rare comment on such figures and far below estimates of Ukrainian casualties from Western leaders

G20 PRESIDENCY

Biden assures US support for 'friend' Modi

WASHINGTON

DESCRIBING India as a strong partner of the US, President Joe Biden on Friday said he was looking forward to supporting his 'friend' PM Narendra Modi during India's G20 presidency. India formally assumed the G20 Presidency on Thursday.

"India is a strong partner of the US, and I look forward to supporting my friend Prime Minister Modi during India's G20 presidency," Biden tweeted on Friday.

Replying to PM Modi's tweets, President Biden underlined that both countries "will advance sustainable and inclusive growth while tackling shared challenges like the climate, energy, and food crises." PM Modi said India will work to further promote oneness, inspired by the theme of 'One Earth, One Family, One Future' and listed terror, climate change, pandemic as the greatest challenges that can be best fought together.

India's G20 priorities will be shaped in consultation with not just our G20 partners, but also our fellow-travellers in the global South, whose voice often goes unheard, Modi said in an article, which was posted on his website.

Imran ally, shortlisted to replace Bajwa, quits

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has approved the early retirement application of Lieutenant General Faiz Hamid, a former ISI chief and one of the six names apparently shortlisted for the post of the Army chief, according to a media report on Friday.

The report comes days after the Chief of General Staff (CGS) Lt General Azhar Abbas also sought early retirement following Gen Asim Munir's appointment as the Chief of Army Staff (COAS).

Former ISI chief Gen Munir has replaced Gen Qamar Javed Bajwa, who retired on November 29 after serving two consecutive three-year terms as Pakistan's Army chief in the coup-prone country, where the military wields considerable power in matters of security and foreign policy.

Lt Gen Hamid sent his application to the Army General Headquarters (GHQ) in Rawalpindi a few days ago, which forwarded it to the Prime Minister's Office for approval, according to Geo TV.

Lt Gen Hamid served as DG ISI and Corps Commander Peshawar under former Prime Minister Imran Khan. He was later posted as Bahawalpur Corps Commander, the report said.

Lt Gen Hamid and Lt. General Abbas were among the six candidates recommended for the office of the chief of the army staff to succeed Gen Bajwa.

Other names in the list apart from Gen Munir, included Lt. Gen Sahir Shamshad Mirza, Lt Gen Nauman Mehmood and Lt. Gen Mohammad Amir.

Gen Munir is the first Army chief who heads both powerful intelligence agencies — the Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) and the Military Intelligence (MI).

General Faiz Hamid | AP

Pakistan Army General Shahir Shamshad Mirza on Sunday took charge as the Chairman Joint Chiefs of Staff Committee (CJCSC) after his predecessor, Gen (retd) Nadeem Raza, hung up his boots a day earlier.

The post of Army chief is the most powerful position in coup-prone Pakistan where the military wields considerable power in matters of security and foreign policy.

The powerful Army, which has ruled Pakistan for more than half of its 75-plus years of existence, has hitherto wielded considerable power in matters of security and foreign policy.

Meanwhile, Pakistan on Friday appointed career diplomat Asad Majeed Khan, whose name appeared in the 'Cipher Conspiracy' controversy, as its new foreign secretary, ending weeks of uncertainty over the key appointment.

Majeed Khan is presently posted as Pakistan's Ambassador to Belgium, European Union and Luxembourg, the Foreign Office said in a tweet. "Dr Asad Majeed Khan, presently posted as Pakistan's Ambassador to Belgium, the European Union and Luxembourg, has been appointed as the new Foreign Secretary," it tweeted.

Securing a 3% of proportional representation vote is mandatory to become a National Party in Nepal. PENTAGON DEBUTS LATEST U.S. STEALTH BOMBER B-21 RAIDER

WASHINGTON

AMERICA'S newest nuclear stealth bomber is making its public debut after years of secret development and as part of the Pentagon's answer to rising concerns over a future conflict with China.

The B-21 Raider is the first new American bomber aircraft in more than 30 years. Almost every aspect of the programme is classified. Ahead of its unveiling on Friday at an Air Force facility in Palmdale, California, only artists' renderings of the warplane have been released. Those few images reveal that the Raider resembles the black nuclear stealth bomber it will eventually replace, the B-2 Spirit.

The bomber is part of the Pentagon's efforts to modernise all three legs of its nuclear triad, which includes silo-launched nuclear ballistic missiles and submarine-launched warheads, as it shifts from the counterterrorism campaigns of recent decades to meet China's rapid military modernisation.

B-21 Raider | NORTHROP GRUMMAN

While the Raider may resemble the B-2, once you get inside, the similarities stop, said Kathy Warden, chief executive of Northrop Grumman Corp., which is building the Raider.

"The way it operates internally is extremely advanced compared to the B-2, because the technology has evolved so much in terms of the computing capability that we can now embed in the software of the B-21," Warden said.

Other changes include advanced materials used in coatings to make the bomber harder to detect, new ways to control electronic emissions, so the bomber could spoof adversary radars and disguise itself as another object, and use of new propulsion technologies, several defence analysts said.

Six B-21 Raiders are in production. The Air Force plans to build 100 that can deploy either nuclear weapons or conventional bombs and can be used with or without a human crew.

The cost of the bombers is unknown. The fact that the price is not public troubles government watchdogs. The Raider will not make its first flight until 2023. AP

US designates top leaders of AQIS as global terrorists

WASHINGTON

THE US on Thursday designated four top leaders of al-Qaeda and the Pakistani Taliban groups as global terrorists, Secretary of State Antony Blinken has said as he emphasised that the Biden administration will ensure that terrorists do not operate with impunity in Afghanistan.

The terrorists who are designated are Osama Mehmood, the emir of al-Qaeda in Indian Subcontinent (AQIS), Atif Yahya Ghouri, the deputy emir of AQIS and Muhammad Maruf who is responsible for the group's recruiting branch.

Qari Amjad, the deputy emir of Tehrik-i-Taliban Pakistan (TTP), who oversees operations and militants in Pakistan's Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Province, has also been slapped with sanctions.

"As a result of these actions, all property and interests in property of those designated yesterday that are subject to US jurisdiction are blocked, and all US persons are generally prohibited from engaging in any transactions with them," Secretary of State Blinken said.

Founded in September 2014, AQIS is an Islamist militant organisation that aims to fight the governments of Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Myanmar and Bangladesh in order to establish an Islamic state. PTI

NGOs accuse govt of stymying research

More than a dozen NGOs have issued a letter accusing Indonesia of stymying scientific research, after Jakarta banned a group of foreign academics who opposed an official claim that orangutan numbers are increasing. The legal letter of objection, filed to the environment ministry by 18 groups including Greenpeace and Amnesty International, called on authorities to lift a ban imposed in September on the five Western scientists and allow researchers to work freely. The five academics—all based outside Indonesia had penned an op-ed in a local newspaper citing studies showing the orangutan population is in decline, countering official claims their numbers were set to grow

Blow to Rishi Sunak as Labour wins key by-poll

LONDON

IN a poll outcome perceived as the first electoral test of UK PM Rishi Sunak's leadership, the Opposition Labour Party won an important by-election with an increased margin in a north-west UK constituency on Friday.

Samantha Dixon retained the Chester seat for Labour with 17,309 votes, a 61% share and nearly 11,000 more than her Conservative Party rival.

"This is the cost of 12 years of Conservative government. The government, which has wreaked havoc with our economy, destroyed our public services and betrayed the people who put their trust in them at the last general election," Dixon said.

Meanwhile, Sunak has revealed that he experienced racism growing up in the UK but the country has made incredible progress since then.

He said, "...I have experienced racism in my life. But what I am pleased to say is some of the things that I experienced when I was a kid...I don't think would happen today because our country has made progress in tackling racism." PTI

Japanese culture and customs share some similarities with Buddhism, which was introduced by India. So, I think it will be easy for Indians to become familiar with our ways

Nakane Tsutomu, Consul-General of Japan in Bengaluru

KONNICHIWA, BENGALURU!

Ahead of the Japan Film and Music Festival celebrating the 70th year of India-Japan relations, Nakane Tsutomu, Japanese Consul-General here, speaks about his stay in the city and his impressions, and the ongoing football fever

TUNIR BISWAS

THE land of the rising sun shone its blazing light on the FIFA World Cup in Qatar as Japan qualified for the knock-out stages in dramatic fashion after beating juggernauts Spain and Germany. While everyone from the Eastern island nation is celebrating the success, one prominent Japanese national smiles quietly in the city. He is Nakane Tsutomu, the Consul-General of Japan in Bengaluru.

A football fan of 50 years, Tsutomu is delighted at the results. "I am pleased with the progress of the Japanese team, and many Indians have also congratulated us. I am sure that there will be many sleepless nights ahead until our team achieves its goal of reaching the top eight," he says.

Having arrived in the city five months ago, this is his first time in India. "I arrived from Japan at the end of June. The climate in Bengaluru is pleasant and the people are friendly. I have also become accustomed to the taste of South Indian cuisine, and chicken and vegetable curries are my favourites. But it will take some time for me to get used to the traffic jams and horns," shares Tsutomu.

As this year marks the 70th year of India-Japan diplomatic relations, which began in 1952, Tsutomu believes Japan's relations with Karnataka have always been good. "There are 220 Japanese companies with 519 offices in Karnataka. The number of Japanese residents is approximately 1,400. In terms of cultural exchange, the Japan Food Fest was held in November for the first time since 2020, attracting approximately 2,000 visitors. But looking ahead, we would like to strengthen the relationship between the two countries from the grassroots level, as we have done with the Japanese Film Festival," he says.

Nakane Tsutomu at the recently-held Japan Food Fest

Speaking of the Japan Film and Music Festival (JFF), happening between December 9 and 11 at the PVR Orion Mall, Tsutomu says, "I am grateful that Indians are curious about Japanese animation, which has led to an interest in our country's heritage. To get to know one another, it is important to first understand each other's culture and language. Japanese culture and customs share some similarities with Buddhism, which was introduced by India. So, I think it will be easy for Indians to become familiar with our ways and customs," he says, hoping that the audience will enjoy feature-length anime films by Makoto Shinkai, whose works are also popular in India and is the main attraction at the festival, as well as the concert by the rock band Radwimps at JFF.

He believes art can be a powerful tool in bridging international divides. "Culture and art can play an important role in developing diplomatic relations. They are the essence of it all and its understanding will help us in the long run," concludes Tsutomu.

Literary Extravaganza

The 11th edition of Bangalore Lit Festival will bring together several personalities, including Booker Prize winner Shehan Karunatilaka, travel writer Pico Iyer & actor Farhan Akhtar

DESE GOWDA

AFTER an online and a phygital event, the Bengaluru Literature Festival (BLF) is back in its physical form this time. With over 250 international, Indian and city-based authors – travel writer Pico Iyer, Sahitya Akademi winners Sarah Joseph and Ambai, Jnanpith awardee Damodar Mauzo – this year's edition is the largest since the festival's inception nearly a decade ago. "After the last two years, hosting the festival in a physical form feels like hosting the first edition of the event. There was so much uncertainty about when the pandemic would end, and to be organising the largest event we have ever done just two years after the pandemic is surreal," says Shinie Antony, founder and director of BLF.

Antony, who has lived in Mumbai, Delhi and Kochi and other places, finds the Bengaluru audience to be most receptive. "The biggest triumph for the city has been its audience," she shares, adding that in other cities, organisers have a hard time convincing people to attend a literature festival on a Sunday.

The two-day event features not only conversations and activities around a vast range of literary works, but also much entertainment with the likes of Bollywood actor-director-singer Farhan Akhtar in attendance. An evening of Sufi singing and poetry also awaits the audience. Panel discussions on a litany of recently-released books authored by notable writers and poets such as Jerry Pinto, TJS George, Barkha Dutt, will provide an 'illuminating experience' to lovers of literature, says Antony.

BLF is also commemorating the life of late Kannada actor Puneeth Rajkumar by naming their various venues Gandhada Gudi, Raajakumara and Yuvarathnaa.

(The 2022 edition of the festival is set to kick off at Hotel Lalit Ashok on Kumarakrupa Road today. For a detailed schedule, log onto bangaloreliteraturefestival.org)

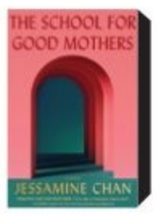
BOOK NOOK



The School for Good Mothers
by Jessamine Chan

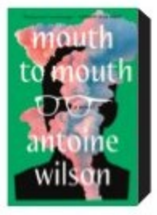
Jessamine Chan's debut starts off in a banal, familiar way: an utterly exhausted mother, in a moment of sleep-deprived despair, does the unthinkable (and yet understandable) and walks out of her apartment, leaving her baby behind.

Olga Dies Dreaming
by Xochitl Gonzalez

This is a vivacious account of Olga Acevedo's life as a premier party planner. Set in New York City in the months surrounding the most devastating hurricane in Puerto Rico's history, Olga Dies Dreaming is a story that examines political corruption, familial strife and the very notion of the American dream.

Wind Whistling in the Cranes
by Lídia Jorge

Translated by Margaret Jull Costa and Annie McDermott, this breathtaking saga, set in the now-distant 1990s, tells the story of the landlords and tenants of a derelict canning factory in southern Portugal.



Mouth to Mouth
by Antoine Wilson

Zero-waste cocktails

HOW do we create sustainable cocktails? Look for local ingredients. Squeeze the ingredients left, right and centre. Reuse what is called trash. For eg., pulp, skins, pits, seeds, and shells which can be transformed into cocktails. Syrup made from used coffee grounds can make an alternative to expensive coffee liqueurs. Try making tepache, a fermented low-alcoholic drink from the waste of pineapple shells. And instead of using plastic straws, use rice straws.

A delightful hyperlink crime thriller

A SHARADHAA

WITH Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage, debutant director Sridhar Shikaripura has taken creative filmmaking a step further. Using his narrative as a kaleidoscope, Sridhar has taken a look at characters as different pieces of stories, reassembling them to stitch convincing new possibilities.

A full-fledged hyperlink subject is rarely attempted in Kannada, and Sridhar's intelligent narrative makes a complex script an interestingly riveting story that takes place in one night.

The slow-burn thriller showcases cosmopolitan Bengaluru and the city plays a key role in the stories about people coming from different backgrounds.

To begin with, the film takes us through the life of Aadi (Naveen Shankar), a boxer, who has a goal to achieve. There is Shreya (Aishani Shetty), who gets addicted to drugs. Shivu (Yash Shetty) is eager to meet his parents after five years. Slow Motion (Nitesh Mahaan) is heartbroken and wants to end his life, and his friend Marayade Ramana (Prakash Thuminad) counsels him against the decision. Another track is about Antony (Bala Rajawadi) who is part of the underworld, and involves Parachute (Siddu Moolimani) and Disco (Omkar) in the mafia too. There is also an episode about girl trafficking run by Desai (Mohan Juneja).

There are many other relevant characters, all living in the same town, who directly or indirectly meet each other in one night. How the lives of these various characters get intertwined is the crux of Dharani Mandala Madhyadholage.

Coincidence is the theme of the subject, and it is about how someone's actions can affect ours. The underlying message of the crime thriller is that when we help one person, someone else will come to our aid at some point or the other.

While the multiple plots are confusing initially, we are soon taken on a rollercoaster of emotions. The movie will definitely not disappoint those who are looking for a novelty in their films, and also get entertained.

Director Sridhar is promising in his debut, and instead of shuffling between narratives, it is almost like a relay, and that works in favour of the film. With crime as the central theme, the director also brings in elements of romance, family sentiments, and humour, and every episode also has a take away message.

Music director Ronada Bakkesh's background score elevates the intensity of each episode. While editor Ujwal Chandra plays a key role in keeping the audience engaged, cinematographer Keertan Poojary wonderfully captures the city through the night. Of course, having many characters in the film makes it a tad too long, but it works. The dialogues are strong too, and if a bit more focus was in place, the scenes would have shaped even better.

Every character coming into Dharani Mandala... gets an important role to play, but it is Naveen Shankar who gets the top billing, and rightly so. The Gultoo actor has smartly handled his role, and he is particularly impressive as a brooding youngster with strong emotional core. Yash Shetty, who is usually seen as a villain, gets an emotional character, and he definitely scores. Aishani Shetty and Sidhu Moolimani too surprise the audience with their portrayals. Nitesh and Prakash are excellent with their comic timing. Omkar, Bala Rajwadi, Kaddipudi Kantaraj, Kari Subbu, Mohan Juneja, Jayashree Aradhya, Sundar Veena, and Channa Keshav are some of the actors, who make a mark, even if they are in blink-and-miss roles.

To sum up, Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage is a solid crime thriller that brings to the fore another promising talent from the Kannada industry

RATING 3.5/5

Thimayya & Thimayya: An ideal family watch

A SHARADHAA

AD FILM-maker-turned-director Sanjay Sharma's Thimayya & Thimayya is a bittersweet and simple narrative that delves into the endearing journey of a grandfather-grandson relationship.

Initially, we are introduced to Vincy Thimayya, and his engagement with Sowmya (Shubra Aiyappa). The plot kicks off when Vincy meets his grandfather Senior Thimayya (Anant Nag) after 30 years.

Junior Thimayya plans to sell his ancestral properties in Madikeri and Bangalore, and wants to settle abroad with Soumya. While everything is going to plan, his uncle entrusts him with the responsibility of taking care of Senior Thimayya for three months. Played by Anant Nag, the character is impulsive and reckless. He is stubborn and often creates problems. Will the grandson put up with the grandfather's attitude for three months? The grandson's love story, and the differences between the three major characters make for an absorbing watch. There is also a parallel thread about Vincy's neighbour, Jyotsana (Aindrita Ray), who is living with her mother. How Jyotsana helps in connecting the two Thimayyas comes with a heartwarming message.

The scenes involving Vincy and his best friend Andy (Vineet Beep Kumar), as well as his banter with the caretaker Jaganna (Prakash Thuminad) offer some funny moments. On the other hand, there are heartwarming moments involving Anant Nag.

Sanjay, in his debut feature film outing, has tried to showcase the emotions between a grandfather and his grandson in a different light. The movie also talks about old age, and takes us back to childhood, and how both need to be handled. The senior's alcoholism impacts his temperament and how Vincy, along with Andy and Jaganna, tackles his snooty behaviour forms another integral part of the story.

In the second half, an interesting scenario unfolds in a bakery that's been owned by the family since 1968. On the flip side, the run time is a major dampener. The story travels smoothly in the first half and slows down into the latter. Anoop Seelin's background score is the strongest facet of Thimayya & Thimayya. Cinematographer Balakrishna Thota demonstrates his mastery of filling every frame with vivid imagery.

With Sanjay getting the casting right, Thimayya & Thimayya is the fifth collaboration between Anant Nag and Diganth. As grandfather and grandson, the duo share great on-screen vibes. Individually, such roles have been Diganth's forte and he delivers this role with aplomb as someone who is visibly frustrated and yet, a caring grandson too. Shubra justifies her role, and Aindrita pulls off a mature role with a lot of charm. Above all, it is Anant who shines with his complicated portrayal of an arrogant alcoholic. The legendary actor, in his 70s, still strives to perfect the art of playing complex characters. To sum it all up, Thimayya & Thimayya is definitely an ideal family watch.
